Russians Shatter Last Natural Line Of Reich Defences

Burst 15 Miles Beyond Vistula River in Drive Toward Silesia—500 Towns Captured

LONDON, Aug. 3 (AP).—Red Army troops shattered the Axis Vistula River line in Poland today, bursting 15 miles beyond that last natural defence barrier before Germany proper in a broad flow of men and tanks that flanked burning Warsaw and sped toward German Silesia, only 100 miles away.

The Vistula, which a desperate enemy had attempted to hold with reinforcements sent from Central German reservoirs, was crossed 110 miles south of besieged Warsaw on a front nearly 19 miles wide between Koprzywnica and Polaniec.

German broadcasts also said another strong bridgehead was established on the west bank near Warka, only 30 miles southeast of Warsaw, where Polish patriots were fighting the Germans in the streets, but Moscow did not confirm that enemy report.

The west-bank towns of Koprzywnica and Polaniec fell to the Russians, a Moscow communique said, along with Staszow, 15 miles west of the Vistula. By seizing Polaniec the Russians were only 60 miles northeast of Krakow, Poland's fifth largest city. With the capture of Staszow they were only 30 miles southeast of the German stronghold of Kielce.

A supplement to the communique said infantrymen first crossed the Vistula on pontoons and rafts, followed by tank forces. In heavy fighting beyond the river amid strong fortifications the Russians said they killed 5,000 Germans and captured 500.

More than 50 localities fell in this swift Russian strike, which apparently was delivered by the upper wing of Marshal Ivan S. Konev's First Ukraine Army. The Moscow communique did not mention the Warsaw area, where Marshal Konstantin K. Rokossovsky's First White Russian Armies are engaged in a bitter fight with the Germans just east of the city.

THE TIMES, London

News and Comment on International Events selected from The Times daily and published in The Daily Colonist by special arrangement with The Vancouver Daily Province.

(Copyright, 1944, by Southam Co.)

LONDON, Aug. 3. — Advances along the Normandy front continue, and The Times' military correspondent does not think the Germans can check them by counter-attacks. There is no sign even of stiffened enemy resistance. Brittany itself is not strongly held, as Nazi divisions there have been reduced so as to provide reinforcements for Normandy.

With reasonably good flying weather, relatively strong German forces on the Northern front should be isolated. Nazi commentators speak of the Allies marching on Rennes, but Nantes and Saint-Nazaire are far more important and they are more likely to move across the Breton Peninsula than to turn westward into it.

The Times' special correspondent with British forces explains these troops have already broken into the enemy's road system to the south, where there are few guns and mines. Tanks are having a clear run and armored cars are probing positions far ahead.

Casualties have been light and 1,500 prisoners taken. Summing up the situation, the correspondent says swift, decisive blows are being struck and there seems to be nothing that can stop the Allied advance.

Germans are abandoning Southern Finland, as they are unable to undertake its defence in view of disastrous losses on the Eastern front. Large bodies of troops are leaving Baltic ports.

Isolation of Hitler's armies in the Baltic states, says The Times' Moscow correspondent, spells the beginning of the end of the Nazis' great Leningrad adventure. It is unlikely these divisions will do any more fighting.

Estonia will soon be liberated and this means that shattered German units will have to try to escape by sea, leaving all their equipment behind them. A successful conclusion of the battle for Kaunas has been celebrated in Moscow. It cost the Germans more than 10,000 men, of whom 8,000 were killed.

Berlin admits yet another crossing

Nazis Fall Back Behind Greve River

British Within Three Miles of Florence

ROME, Aug. 3 (AP).—German troops are pulling back behind the Greve River preparatory to a withdrawal into Florence and advance units of the British Eighth Army already have stabbed within three miles of the historic city, field dispatches said tonight.

Loosening of German defences became apparent overnight and it was believed the enemy would pull into a tight pocket behind the Greve where it flows below the southwestern edge of the city, in an attempt to hold until Nazi troops can be moved through Florence, Associated Press Correspondent Lynn Heinzerling wrote from the front.

Advances up to three miles were made on the extreme right of the Eighth Army front and South African troops were moving forward almost even with the New Zealanders south of the city.

On the western end of the Italian front the enemy showed determination to make a desperate stand along the Arno River and on both sides of the besieged city of Pisa strong German patrols of up to 200 men hit into American positions on the south bank of the river.

The Germans continued to pour in reinforcements in the battle for Florence, including divisions of Italian troops trained in Germany.

There was no confirmation of a broadcast German report that Allied artillery had shelled Florence, which has been declared an open city. The Allies have not officially acknowledged Florence's status as an open city, but have refrained from bombing its rail yards since the fighting approached its outskirts.

Eighth Army units captured the commanding heights of La Poggiona, north of the villages of San

Island Logging To Be Resumed

Under a blanket permit which may be withdrawn at any time should extreme hazard conditions return, the Forest Branch yesterday relaxed the forest closure order which has restricted logging operations on Vancouver Island and the Lower Mainland, the result of scattered showers and light rain.

The blanket permit makes it possible for operators to resume logging on the standard daily shift. Sawmills and industrial operations close to the woods may continue to operate, as for the past fortnight, under permit only. Travel in the woods by the public is still prohibited.

Changing weather conditions which made the relaxation of the order possible were reflected in the fire reports received yesterday at Forest Branch headquarters here. Vancouver forest district had no new fires, and the Buttle Lake outbreaks were in good shape.

Prince George reported its fires were being held with augmented crews and no new fires were listed. Kamloops district was down to 10 fires, and had gained control of the Clearwater Creek outbreak. Nelson district reached a low point of four fires, all controlled.

Showers and an overcast sky eased the situation in Vancouver forest district. Prince George reported heavy showers, and Kamloops light showers. The weather continued warm at Nelson.

Maintenance Crew Called From Yards

HALIFAX, Aug. 3 (CP).—A maintenance crew of 18 men was taken from the Halifax Shipyards, Ltd., tonight by the Industrial Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers, Local 1 (C.C.L.), which charged that the management had violated the maintenance agreement.

A union spokesman said that a maintenance crew was provided with the provision that a union inspection committee would be allowed to enter the yards today. He said the committee was denied entrance to the yards today. The maintenance crew had been on duty, in shifts, for 24 hours.

Ice Cream at $60 Per Cup

CHUNGKING, Aug. 3 (AP).—Authorities today set a ceiling price for ice at 15 Chinese dollars a pound (60 cents) as the city broiled in a heat wave. Other ceiling prices fixed for hot-weather refresheners were: Ice cream, 60 Chinese dollars ($3 a cup); lemonade, $40 ($2) a bottle; iced milk, $50 ($2.50) a glass; ice-suckers, $14 (90 cents) a stick. A second-hand refrigerator was advertised for sale at $660,000 ($35,500).

No Sign of Strike's End

MONTREAL, Aug. 3 (CP).—Montreal took the first day of its latest strike of street-car and bus operators literally in stride today, with humble feet vying with a variety of other means of locomotion in getting thousands to their regular occupations and back again.

The way Montrealers used the experience gained in two previous tramway tie-ups within the last 17 months to go about their business with some semblance of order proved to be the most interesting development of the day, for an unusual quiet remained over the surface of the strike front.

Just what developments were going on behind the scenes remained obscure, for, while Provincial Government officials expressed hope that the walkout might terminate today, tramway spokesmen remained silent and officials of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees said that "nothing had been done" toward a settlement.

The workers held a mass meeting tonight but there was no indication that a settlement was in sight. Paul Emile Marquette, regional organizer of the Canadian Congress of Labor, said the fact that only one man reported for work this morning proved that the organization of the strike was complete.

He added that "Ottawa cannot find any reason" to refuse the request of the workers.

Eucher Corbeil, president of the Montreal local of the C.B.R.E., said the Dominion Labor Department "must bear all the responsibility for the strike."

The strike, which started at midnight last night after breakdown of Ottawa conferences seeking a solution to the dispute over union demands for a union shop, was completely effective throughout the day. No attempt was made to take out a tram or bus.

British, Canadians Praised by Stimson

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3 (CP).—War Secretary Henry Stimson today gave credit to British and Canadian forces for their deep drive into enemy lines southwest of Caen and declared that all the Allied forces in France were fighting as one unit.

"All share in the success thus far achieved," Stimson said in his weekly review of operations.

He commented that the American advance was more "spectacular" but called attention to the British thrust of 17 miles south of Vire, and the value of the British-Canadian forces through their engagement of heavy German forces in the Caen area.

The secretary commented as follows on the British-Canadian part of the operations:

"While the most spectacular gain has been made by American troops who have been adept at learning and applying the principles of blitz warfare, the British troops, whose attack was timed to follow after the start of American operations, have now broken through 17 miles south of Vire.

"Also the earlier attack of British and Canadians at Caen and their continual maintenance of an aggressive front in that area tied up a heavy array of German forces, especially of German armor.

"This, in turn, gave assurance that the Nazi lines to the west, where the American attack was launched, would be thinner.

"Thus, all the Allied forces have fought as one unit and all share in the success thus far achieved."

His Majesty Lauds Men on Italian Front

LONDON, Aug. 3 (CP).—The King, returning to Britain by air after a 10-day tour of the battlefields in Italy, said in a message tonight that the Germans had been "outgeneralled and out-fought" on the Italian battlefields.

The message, addressed to General Wilson, commander-in-chief of the Mediterranean theatre, said:

"I have greatly appreciated the opportunity you have afforded to me of seeing so many of my armed forces and those of the Allies in the Italian theatre of war during the past few days.

"I have traversed the ground from Cassino to the present front line, a distance of some 280 miles, through which, since the middle of May, the Eighth and Fifth Armies have driven a powerful and highly experienced German force.

"It is true to say that the enemy has been out-generalled and out-fought. This brilliant campaign has added much to the glories of the British and the Dominions and the Allied armies."

Would Extend C.N.R.

OTTAWA, Aug. 3 (CP).—J. M. Dechene (L., Athabaska) urged today in the Commons that the Government extend the Canadian National Railways' lines into the northern settlements of Alberta which now are not served by any line.

Mr. Dechene said the lines were to have been extended before the war, but no start on the work had been made.

Racial Trouble Still Unsettled

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 4 (AP) (Friday).—An apparent misunderstanding over settlement of the racial issue involved in Philadelphia's transportation tie-up raised the possibility early today that walkout participants would reverse their decision to return to work on government-seized trolleys, buses and subway trains.

The back-to-work edict of the "general emergency committee" representing the walkout participants was only a few hours old when James McMenamin, committee head, returned to the scene of a mass meeting where the decision was made.

About 1,000 of the 4,000 workers who had attended the mass meeting still were present.

McMenamin declared: ". . . the order is not a demand to return to work. It is a request. Until such time as we get a written guarantee that there will be no further hiring of colored operators and no further instruction of operators now in training, we will stay out."

His speech drew cheers from the crowd.

Meanwhile, in the first disorders in the city's Negro sections since Wednesday midnight, a 15-year-old Negro boy, Franklin Howard, was hit in the chest by a bullet fired from an automobile which police said contained two white men.

At the P.T.C. employees' first meeting cheers greeted soldiers who posted a notice of the seizure and the workers saluted as the flag of the United States was raised over the premises.

The day's events had included action by several local draft boards to revoke occupational deferments of walkout participants.

Upgrading of eight Negroes to operating positions precipitated the walkout.

Allied Strategy, Once Proven, Could Mean Ruin of Germany

LONDON, Aug. 3 (CP).—The current Allied offensive in France threatens Germany with a sledge-hammer movement across Central France reminiscent of the traditional Von Schlieffen plan employed by the Germans in making war in the West.

The Allies now are establishing a line running northeast-southwest across the base of the Cherbourg Peninsula and into Brittany. As German resistance is eliminated in pockets and salients south of Caumont and east of Avranches, the front will be virtually straight.

Once this straightening is achieved, the front could be swung counter-clockwise through Central-Southern France, possibly forcing the Germans to reverse their front facing the English Channel.

This, in effect, would be a reverse application of the Schlieffen plan—holding back the left flank and pivoting the right. For days the front has swung on the Caen hinge where a knockdown, dragout fight continues in contrast with the fluid fighting to the southwest.

The fact that in the West an open flank now exists against which Allied armor can operate, taken together with the Russian crossing of the Vistula, is seen by Lt.-Gen. H. G. Martin, London Daily Telegraph military analyst, as spelling ruin to Germany.

He quotes a remark by Count von Schlieffen, the famous German military strategist, made during war games of 1905 to test his plan, that if the Russians were to cross the Vistula, Oder and Elbe, it would be impossible for Germany to continue a war against France.

Martin sees two possibilities:

1. British forces "fighting at the less spectacular end of the great swing door which the Allies are pushing open in the face of the enemy, will turn leftwards through the Bocage to pin German forces with their backs against the Orne River."

Allies Take Myitkyina

COLOMBO, Ceylon, Aug. 4 (Friday) (CP).—Myitkyina, largest town in Northern Burma, has fallen to the Chinese-American forces as the climax of a siege which began last May 1, an Allied announcement said today.

The siege of Myitkyina began when an American force swept out of the hills and captured Pamati airfield after a 20-day forced march over 112 miles of perilous terrain.

The city, terminus of the trunk railway from Rangoon, capital of Burma, had been occupied by the Japanese for two years. Allied forces have held the main airport there for weeks, but the Japanese garrison clung stubbornly to sections of the town.

Myitkyina has been the heart of Japanese activity in Northern Burma.

British Drive to East of Vire Threatens to Shut New Trap On Germans South of Caen

American Troops and Armor Spread Almost Unchecked Toward Brest and St. Nazaire

ALLIED SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Aug. 3 (CP).—Swinging like a sharp-edged scythe, the British Second Army cut its way east of Vire today as American troops and armor spread virtually unchecked toward Brittany's prize ports of Brest and St. Nazaire.

The British drive threatened to spring a new trap on the Germans south of Caen, from which Canadian forces struck out today in a new offensive. There was no word on the progress of the Canadian attack.

In Brittany one American force drove through Rennes, the main rail centre, and struck toward the U-boat base of St. Nazaire, less than 60 miles to the south, while another column punched westward toward Brest.

Still other American forces spread out eastward from Avranches at the base of the Cherbourg Peninsula, pushing to Mortain, 20 miles from Avranches, and narrowing the sack in which six German divisions were trapped when British forces broke through south of Caumont and drove to Vire.

These British troops, now forcing their way eastward from Vire in a move which threatens the stubborn German defences south of Caen, were reported to be encountering stiffening resistance, but had the support of R.A.F. Typhoons.

These rocket-equipped aircraft caught the German Ninth S.S. Panzer Division in a road jam passing a line of lighter vehicles near Conde Sur Noireau and crippled the whole column.

Wednesday night the Typhoons also blasted Tilly la Campagne in preparation for today's Canadian attack by the Lincoln and Welland Regiment.

ABANDON TANKS IN HASTE TO ESCAPE

Two enemy armored and four infantry divisions, which had been holding back the Allied advance east of Granville, were in confused retreat as American and British forces tightened a noose about them between Mortain and Vire. At latest reports they had a gap four and one-half miles wide through which to flee and were abandoning tanks and other equipment in their haste to escape.

Following up swiftly in a seven-mile advance from the southwest, American forces pushed to within a mile of St. Sever Calvados, midway between Vire and Villedieu Les Poeles.

In a fruitless attempt to stall their pursuers, the Germans drove French civilians out into the highways in the path of the Allied advance, but the non-combatants were shunted off to temporary camps.

It appeared that the Germans, far from offering a threat to the Normandy-Brittany corridor, were pulling out of the whole salient be-

OTTAWA, Aug. 3 (CP).—State Secretary McLarty said today in the Commons that inferences drawn from the recent appointment of seven returning officers for taking the overseas service vote that a Federal election was coming reasonably soon were "entirely unwarranted."

Heavies in Day Smash At Continent

More Than 5,000 Planes Take Part

LONDON, Aug. 3 (AP).—R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. heavy bombers, making their greatest daylight attack of the war, hammered three robot supply depots in France today, while other forces of American four-engined bombers, based both in Britain and Italy, blasted German aircraft industry and communications targets.

More than 5,000 British, Canadian and American bombers and fighters participated in the widespread assault, as the August aerial offensive mounted in intensity, and dropped an estimated 5,000 tons of bombs during the day.

A fleet of approximately 1,000 R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. Lancasters and Halifaxes escorted by 300 R.C.A.F. fighters successfully attacked two frequently-bombed flying bomb and rocket depots in Northern France in one operation, and later another formation of about 700 Halifaxes with fighter cover smashed another robot depot near Watten in Pas-de-Calais.

It was at Watten that the Nazis were reported to be preparing ten-ton rockets to aim at London.

The German radio reported that Allied bombers were in action again tonight, striking at Brussels.

Allied planes operating in Normandy in the afternoon flew 700 sorties and destroyed more than 100 vehicles. Five railway bridges in the Rouen-Paris-Orleans sector were bombed without loss and other aircraft hit an ammunition dump at Maintenon.

During the evening other strong forces of American heavy bombers struck at flying bomb launching

Nazis Claim Heavy Toll of Allied Ships

LONDON, Aug. 3 (CP).—The German radio claimed today the sinking of a British cruiser, two destroyers, two corvettes and two freighters, one an American Liberty ship freighter, in a series of early-morning attacks in the Seine Bay. There was no Allied confirmation.

The radio claimed the sinkings were caused by "weapons recently employed by the German navy," interpreted here as probably meaning human torpedoes.

The broadcast asserted the cruiser "was torpedoed at close range at 3.42 a.m., broke in two and was abandoned" and that other craft were sunk at intervals.

Similar claims were made by the D.N.B. Agency.

The agency said: "A catastrophe overtook Allied war and merchant ships concentrated in the eastern part of the Seine Bay. Cruisers, destroyers, corvettes, transports, freighters and other vessels were seen to go down after big explosions. These sinkings were caused by the new weapon of the German navy, often mentioned of late. A final statement about the scope of the sinkings has not yet come in."

Damage Heavy in New Robot Raids

LONDON, Aug. 3 (AP).—The Germans renewed their flying-bomb salvos against London and Southern England tonight after a late afternoon respite from a damaging 14-hour blasting that was a record for length and severity.

Night explosions increased the casualties and destruction as rescuers still dug for victims among the rubble of some of the dwellings, business houses and the ten hospitals hit in the day's barrage of horror missiles.

The new barrage came despite heavy bomber attacks against the launching ramps Wednesday night and bombings of three robot supply depots in France today.

The 14-hour attack had eased off late in the day after a blanket of low clouds lifted from Dover Strait and gave anti-aircraft gunners better shooting at the missiles.

The gunners were busy from midnight on and got many robots on the wing, but many got through. Just how many can best be told by the fact that ten hospitals were hit. Ten patients were killed in one of them.

Before the clutter could be cleared up by extremely efficient civilian defence workers, new patients were being admitted. At another hospital two babies were born just as a bomb fell.

CLUB FOR SOLDIERS

ROME, Aug. 3 (AP).—A Catholic club for Allied soldiers, containing a chapel donated by Pope Pius, was opened today near St. Peter's. At a reception Archbishop Spellman of New York welcomed soldiers and chaplains of the British, Polish and American forces.

ACE REPORTED MISSING

LONDON, Aug. 3 (CP).—Squadron Leader George Hill, D.F.C. and two bars, of Pictou, N.S., one of the R.C.A.F.'s leading fighter pilots, was today officially reported missing. He was credited with the destruction of at least 14 enemy aircraft.

Repulse Four More Attacks

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Aug. 4 (Friday) (AP).—Four more suicidal Japanese counter-attacks against the left flank of American lines in British New Guinea have been repulsed, headquarters announced today.

A total of 602 Japanese dead was counted during fierce fighting Wednesday in the Afua sector of the Driniumor River battle front, east of Aitape in British New Guinea.

On the Sansapor beach at the tip of New Guinea, some 700 miles westward, 93 Japanese surrendered in a group Wednesday. No fighting has yet developed on the valuable beachhead, about 600 miles south of the Philippines, which United States army forces captured Sunday.

Gain Two Miles On Guam Island

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3 (AP).—American troops, despite stiffened Japanese resistance, have advanced another two miles to the northward on Guam in their campaign to drive the enemy from that former American base, it was announced tonight.

Enemy dead counted by American forces totaled 7,893 on Guam.

On conquered Tinian Island, marines are hunting down scattered remnants of enemy forces hiding in caves and dugouts. The enemy dead on Tinian now is estimated at more than 5,000.

Chinese Troops Break Into Tenchung City

CHUNGKING, Aug. 3 (CP).—Chinese forces in Yunnan Province, striving to join Allied troops in Burma and open a land supply route from India into blockaded China, have broken into Tengchung, largest city west of the Salween, the Chinese High Command announced tonight.

The Chinese entered the city yesterday and a battle with the enemy garrison is in progress, said the communique. Tengchung is a principal objective in the Chinese Salween River offensive.

Bitter fighting continued in Hunan Province where encircled Hengyang has resisted Japanese attacks for five weeks.

Mayhew Told 300 Cargo Ships To Be Kept in Postwar Service

OTTAWA, Aug. 3 (CP).—Canada expects to keep the 300 cargo ships she now owns in merchant marine service after the war, but the policy of whether they will be Government-operated or operated by private companies has not been determined, Transport Minister Michaud told the Commons tonight.

Mr. Michaud spoke after R. W. Mayhew (Liberal, Victoria) and Clarence Gillis (C.C.F., Cape Breton South) had urged the operation of an expanded merchant marine service after the war.

The minister said Canada would come out of the war with ten times the number of merchant ships she had before the war, but with them all in operation employment could only be provided for some 10,000 men.

Mr. Mayhew in urging a merchant fleet, said while Canada would have to share the movement of merchandise with other countries, the United Kingdom and European countries would require large quantities of Canadian goods.

The 5,000,000 or more homes to be built in the United Kingdom—a house every 20 seconds for ten years—would require vast supplies of lumber, and orders had already been placed in Canada for 2,000,000,000 feet in the next two years. It would require 300 ships to carry this lumber and 200 would be needed for wheat shipments. Canada should have at least 500 10,000-ton ships, he suggested.

Montgomery Again Proves Master of Nazi Strategists

By L. S. B. SHAPIRO
North American Newspaper Alliance

WITH THE BRITISH AND CANADIAN FORCES IN NORMANDY, July 31 (Delayed).—A very great [illegible] here in the thick country along the shoulders of the Cherbourg Peninsula, but it is too early to say so with certainty.

Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery has within his grasp at this moment quite a considerable victory. Whether he proposes to accept to end it at this stage of the campaign is frankly problematical. He may continue the process of keeping the badly winded German forces racing frantically at his bidding along the perimetre of our bulging line in order that he may strike a major blow that will settle the battle for all of France west and south of Paris.

With his American and British columns now ranging the Normandy countryside as far west as Avranches, General Montgomery is reaping the benefits of a policy he rigidly has followed for the last four weeks—that of keeping the initiative by a series of strong attacks for very limited objectives. The over-all objective of these attacks was, of course, to wield a substantial measure of control over the movement of the German forces along our battle line and to entice the enemy immediately into close action.

ATTACKS HAD PUZZLING EFFECT

These strong attacks for very limited objectives had a puzzling effect at home and were distinctly not popular with the fighting formations involved. General Montgomery was accused of frittering away his strength without making spectacular gains in ground won, but he persisted, particularly in the Caen area, in throwing his British and Canadian formations at the enemy's most sensitive defence zone, which is the short route to Paris.

In this area he threw four solid attacks during July—on the 4th at Carpiquet, on the 8th at Caen itself, on the 18th at Bourgebus and on the 25th at May-sur-Orne. He interspersed these attacks with two strong thrusts in the Tilly la Campagne-Esquay area. Any one of these attacks might well have been the prelude of a climactic drive, but General Montgomery hit with his full strength when Lieut.-Gen. Omar N. Bradley launched his attack with very strong forces on July 26 and broke through the German line. Lieut.-Gen. Miles C. Dempsey, commanding the British Second Army, followed quickly with a thunderous attack from Caumont on July 30.

Both these offensives are paying magnificent dividends on General Montgomery's close-fisted policy around Caen.

Is this twin offensive General Montgomery's supreme effort to settle the fate of Southwestern [illegible]

That is a secret General Montgomery himself knows and one which the Germans would give much to learn. The more violently the enemy reacts, the more vulnerable he becomes everywhere along front lines.

General Montgomery has many choices as he examines his battle map somewhere behind these lines. The enemy has none but to patch up his infantry and transport and to race to every visible point of pressure. The victor of El Alamein is proving himself anew their master.

First Aid Teams To Hold Contest

Civil Defence casualty service elimination competitions, to determine teams to compete in provincial contests in Vancouver in the Autumn, will be held at the Armoury on September 16 at 7 o'clock, it was announced yesterday by Captain E. D. W. Levien, chairman of the Civil Defence Association of Controllers and Chief Wardens for South Vancouver Island.

The competitions, he explained, will be in six classes: A1 and A2 for first-aid teams; B1 and B2 for blitz first-aid teams, and C1 and C2 for gas casualty teams. They are open to all registered Civil Defence personnel according to group.

Rules governing the competitions are obtainable from the Civil Defence controllers and members of the subcommittee in charge. This subcommittee, with Dr. O. A. B. Hall, will handle all arrangements.

Entry forms may be obtained from the same individuals, and must be returned by August 15, through the controller of each district. Each entry must be signed by the controller concerned.

Teams must supply their own first aid equipment, including blankets, but excluding stretchers.

Date of the provincial competition has not yet been announced by the provincial committee.

Body Found in Water

Provincial Police removed the body of Peter Black Kerr, 51, 832 Rithet Street, from the water off Horseshoe Bay, at the foot of Douglas Street, at 1.30 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Sgt. C. C. Jacklin and Cons. C. P. Crouch found the body 30 feet from the shore.

Dr. E. C. Hart, coroner, was notified and gave permission for removal of the body to McCall Bros.' Funeral Home. No announcement was made regarding an inquest, pending further investigation.

A former resident of New Westminster, Kerr is survived by his wife and two children, according to police. He was a member of Britannia Branch, Canadian Legion.

Boy Hero of Punjab Regiment Bewildered When V.C. Given

WITH THE EIGHTH ARMY IN ITALY, Aug. 3 (CP).—Kamal Ram looked at King George and the King-Emperor looked at Kamal Ram and wondered that this baby-faced little Indian of 19 could be the man who had done all the things the citation said he had done.

This fabled figure pinning the Victoria Cross on his khaki shirt, his battalion of the Punjab Regiment drawn up behind him, those great generals Alexander and Leese and others standing there looking at his stripling figure. Kamal Ram was still a trifle bewildered by it all.

He had been only a rookie when he had done that thing the big fat colonel was reading about in this mown Italian field. He had just come up to the Punjabs a few days before they made the crossing of the Gari River and joined Canadian tanks in the assault of the Gustav line. Twenty months before he had left his home in the Punjab, another Gujjar who wanted to be a soldier.

Then it was May 12 and they had crossed the Gari River and his company was pinned down and somebody asked for a volunteer to take on the harassing machine-guns. Kamal said he'd go.

One by one he eliminated three machine-gun posts, with bayonet and grenades and his willowy little frame. He killed five Germans and captured four, and his company, amazed and inspired, stormed the fourth post and weren't pinned down any more.

The Gustav line was broken in three days and the Punjabs went on fighting in the Liri Valley. Kamal Ram went on with them until one day he was wounded and they sent him to hospital and eventually to reinforcement unit.

It was there that these amazing events had started. They had told him one day at the reinforcement unit that the provost were looking for him. Kamal Ram could think of only one reason. He had disobeyed his sergeant after knocking out the first two machine guns.

The sergeant had said for him to go back, but Kamal Ram had insisted in joining the sergeant in the attack and knocking out the post. They must, Kamal decided, be putting him on charge for disobeying orders.

He tried to dodge the provost but they took him away and finally they placed him aboard a plane and flew him to a field near Siena. Only on the eve of his investiture, had they told him why the provost had come.

Now there he was under the broiling sun, his pughee (turban) hot on his brown head, his shorts pressed to perfection, his boots dusty over their glittering shine. The King shook his hand and asked his age, then awed by the penetrating stare of this diminutive fighter, he looked down and the investiture was over.

The New Zealand band struck up and his turbaned mates swept him to their shoulders and carried him around the field. His was the first V.C. his division had won in Italy, the second V.C. his regiment's battalions had won.

Kamal Ram, a great soldier on the shoulders of great soldiers, was borne away.

sites in the Pas-de-Calais area, a synthetic oil plant at Harnes, an oil storage depot at Courcelletes, and objectives in the Paris and Brussels area.

In another early night operation R.A.F. medium bombers attacked railway junctions on the main line between Paris and Dieppe without loss.

During the day American fighters destroyed 11 enemy aircraft in aerial combat and six on the ground, a communique said.

Normally used in night attacks, the heavy British and Canadian bombers struck at their targets in bright daylight and in view of the short hop probably carried maximum bomb loads. An estimated 1,000 heavies took part, indicating between 2,000 and 3,000 tons of explosives were dropped.

First reports said the bombing was well concentrated. All the Canadian planes returned safely.

Up to 750 American heavy bombers based in Britain, covered by 500 fighters, attacked railyards at Saarbrucken, Mulhouse and Strasbourg, an oil storage dump at Merkwiller and other military targets in France, while from Italy a similar American force attacked the aircraft centre of Friedrichshafen and communications in Northern Italy.

CANADIAN BOMBER GROUP STRIKES

WITH THE CANADIAN BOMBER GROUP IN ENGLAND, Aug 3 (CP-Cable). — Lancasters and Halifaxes of the Canadian Bomber Group struck twice today at flying bomb dumps in France in the heaviest raids ever mounted by the R.C.A.F.

Fourteen Canadian squadrons joined with the R.A.F. in the attack and all of the many Canadian planes in action returned.

An all-Lancaster force from R.C.A.F. and R.A.F. squadrons struck one base in the early afternoon and at dusk an even larger force of Halifaxes, most of them Canadian, blasted another target.

Air Vice-Marshal C. M. McEwen, group commander, met airmen of the Alouette and Snowy Owl squadrons when they returned and praised the ground and aircrews for their "truly magnificent" effort. It was he who revealed that this was the largest force of Canadians ever sent out.

Canadians on the raid included Wing Cmdr Frank Watkins, Winnipeg; Flt. Lieut. A. D. Lewis, of Lethbridge and Sqdn. Ldr. A. L. Howe, Calgary.

While the heavies were attacking flying bomb dumps, R.A.F. mediums battered the Serqueux railway yards, the junction northeast of Rouen where four main lines serve the Normandy front.

One group of mediums led by Flt. Lieut. J. L. Knowlton, of Winnipeg, was composed entirely of Canadians. They included W.O. P. S. Purvis, Holland, Man., and Fred Bing-Surey, Lethbridge, Alta.

CANADIAN SPITFIRES DOWN THREE NAZIS

LONDON, Aug. 3 (CP-Cable) — Three German aircraft were destroyed over France today by Canadian Spitfire pilots flying from Normandy bases, the R.C.A.F. announced tonight after disclosing the first German pick-a-back "flying bomb" had been shot down by a Canadian night fighter.

Flt. Lieut. R. R. Bouskil, of Toronto, got an M.E.-109 to his credit without firing a shot when the pilot bailed out just as the Canadian was getting into position. Other M.E.'s fell to Flt. Lieuts. G. W. Johnson, Hamilton, Ont., and R. H. Cull, Seba Beach, Alta.

The first recorded victory over the "pick-a-back" planes which incorporate an M.E.-109 mounted on an explosive-laden J.U.-88, fell to a night fighter pilot and his navigator.

Flt. Lieut. Walter Dinsdale, of Brandon, Man., and P.O. Jack Dunn, of Winnipeg, encountered the new weapon during a routine patrol over the Normandy beachhead and sent it crashing to earth where it exploded behind the German lines.

Michele and La Romola and about five and one-half miles southwest of Florence.

A few miles to the northwest British and Indian troops crossed the Pesa River along a two-mile stretch, seized the village of Ginestra and moved forward a mile from the north bank. This advance brought them to a point nine miles from Florence. Hundreds of Nazi prisoners were taken in fierce fighting.

A British guards brigade operating with a South African armored unit drove the Germans from Strada, seven and one-half miles southeast of Florence and pushed two miles beyond newly won Monte Meggio, in a further advance across the River Greve.

Officer Acquitted

WOODSTOCK, Ont., Aug 3 (CP)—Lt.-Col. N. A. McIntosh, of the Canadian Army Driving and Maintenance School, was acquitted today by an Army court-martial on a charge of ill-treating a soldier. The court's findings on a second charge of conduct prejudicial to good order in the army was forwarded to military headquarters in Ottawa and will be announced there.

The charges were based on an incident in the officers' mess, June 26, with Col. McIntosh being accused of attacking Cpl. W. J. Sillers, assistant mess steward, for refusing him a drink on the grounds his liquor quota was used up.

Speaks on Injuries

Mr. C. Pritchard, representative of the Workmen's Compensation Board, addressed a meeting of local trade union officials in the Boilermakers' Hall last night on the subject of injuries and compensation.

The question of eye injuries was discussed. Cases of eye injuries had been stated by union officials in which the man injured had been refused compensation, and it had been stated that the injury to the eye had been effected by minute particles of metal which could penetrate the ordinary eye shields. This was repudiated by Mr. Pritchard, who said that all types of eye shields worn by workmen had been tested and approved by the manufacturer and that penetration was impossible.

It was also mentioned that workmen who feel that they are entitled to compensation, have only to fill the proper forms and go before a doctor of their own choosing before being examined by the Workmen's Compensation Board. Whether or not compensation results, the applicant is compensated for time spent before the board.

The unions will endeavor to have minor adjustments read into the Provincial Workmen's Compensation Act.

Widow of the late Peter Alexander MacLean, she was born in Nova Scotia, and had resided here for the past 50 years.

She leaves to mourn her loss three daughters, Mrs. A. Karley, Ladysmith; Mrs. J. R. O'Rhea, Vancouver, and Mrs. D. Clarke, Seattle, also six grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Rev. T. A. Jansen will officiate at service, and interment will be in the family plot at Ross Bay Cemetery.

Canadian Airmen Honored

OTTAWA, Aug. 3 (CP).—Air Force headquarters announced tonight the award of three decorations to members of the R.C.A.F. serving overseas, comprising one bar to the Distinguished Flying Cross, one D.F.C. and one Conspicuous Gallantry Medal (Flying).

The awards.

Bar to D.F.C.—Flt.-Lt. J. P. McElroy, Kamloops, B.C.

D.F.C.—P.O. L. A. Mann, Portage la Prairie, Man.

C.G.M. (Flying)—Sgt. P. Engbrecht, Whitewater, Man.

P.O. Mann was cited for skill and resourcefulness in bringing his aircraft safely home after an attack on railway sidings at Le Mans despite extensive damage. Several holes were torn in the fuselage, the bomb doors were torn open, the port rudder and elevator were damaged and both port engines were affected, one of them catching fire.

"Much height was lost and the situation was serious," the citation said. "Much vibration was experienced and flying speed had to be reduced, but in spite of many difficulties P.O. Mann reached an airfield. This officer was undoubtedly responsible for the ultimate safety of the aircraft and its crew."

Flt.-Lt. McElroy was cited for displaying "the finest qualities of courage and determination in air operations." In June he flew the leading aircraft of a formation which engaged a force of more than 30 enemy fighters, nine of them were shot down, and made a safe landing at an airfield although his aircraft was severely damaged.

Move to Appoint Radio Head Opposed in House

OTTAWA, Aug. 3 (CP).—Improved radio service and more efficient handling of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation would result from the appointment of a full-time salaried chairman for the C.B.C., War Services Minister LaFleche said today in the Commons.

[illegible] gave second and third reading on division to a bill providing for the appointment of a full-time salaried chairman. The measure met opposition from Progressive Conservative and C.C.F. members.

General LaFleche said that since 1936 the C.B.C. has had the services of a part-time chairman who received an honorarium of $1,500 a year. In his opinion this was a fault in the set-up of the corporation, but despite the fault the C.B.C. had made good progress.

Passage of the bill came after the House disposed of a bill aimed at assuring fishermen stabilized prices for their products in the postwar years, and a measure amending the Customs and Tariff Act.

Finance Minister Ilsley said during study of the customs and tariff bill, based on budget resolution previously adopted, that it was found impossible to advance from September 30 to August 31 the date on which new prices for farm implement repair parts will go into effect. The reduced prices result from the Government's action in lifting the duty and tax on repair parts imported from the United States.

Earlier, Labor Minister Mitchell said that in his opinion the strike of the Montreal tramway employees was not "warranted over an item of this description." The cause of the dispute was a clause in a new agreement under negotiations which would force new employees of the company to join the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees within 30 days after employment.

"When the big national and international picture is taken into consideration, I do not think a strike is warranted over an item of this description," said Mr. Mitchell.

Gordon Graydon, Progressive Conservative House leader, and M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, said they did not support the radio bill because they feared it would lead to a division of authority in the corporation.

General LaFleche said the bill was to do away with divided authority. There had been ineffectiveness in the past due to divided authority, and the bill was aimed at rectifying the situation.

The chairman would be the real head of the corporation, and would rule on matters of policy.

"I would want to put the general manager beyond the possibility of believing even for a moment that it would be his duty to assume the functions of the real head of the corporation," he said.

Mr. Graydon said it was "disgraceful and scandalous" for the C.B.C. to be without a general manager since last October.

Dr. James S. Thomson, president of the University of Saskatchewan, resigned as general manager last October.

Mr. Coldwell said his party did not believe that the appointment of the chairman was the best thing that could be done for the corporation, but it was prepared to give the chairman a first-class trial.

He said that if the policies of the board were to be decided by the chairman the members of the Board of Governors would become rubber stamps.

In the last two years the C.B.C. employees had improved the service to the people and were performing a worthwhile function.

John Diefenbaker (P.C., Lake Centre), expressed belief that the C.B.C. should curtail its advertising activities.

A free press was essential to free speech, but the press could not remain as independent as in the past if the C.B.C. continued to invade the revenue fields of the press.

The War Today

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON

A.P. War Analyst

Names of French towns familiar in the first Great War are racing through the war news now as American armored power storms through Brittany toward the broad open valley of the Loire.

Brest, St. Nazaire, Rennes, Nantes, Angers, they all stir memories of another war. The fighting men from this side of the Atlantic passed that way to victory over another generation of Germans in 1917-18.

It was up the Loire Valley from Brest and St. Nazaire that the Americans moved to reach the Marne, the Meuse and ultimately the Rhine.

With American capture of Rennes, the critical communications hub to Brittany, the fate of the great peninsula that thrusts westward into the Atlantic is sealed. Its complete conquest to become the entry port in France for fresh waves of American armed power can be no more than days or even hours away.

An obvious first major objective of the Allied incursion into France, once the bloody beaches of Normandy had been left behind, has been gained. At Rennes, or now probably beyond it en route to its next goal, the fast-moving column which took the city in its stride is already churning the dust of the northern slopes of the Loire Valley. The streams it crosses now all flow into the Loire. And up the Loire lies the great interior military highway across France from west to east, the longer but more open road to Berlin.

Fusiliers Recall War Declaration

Former members of the 88th Victoria Irish Fusiliers recalled yesterday they "went active" 30 years ago when there was no talk of such persons as "Zombies." Some of the survivors of the unit residing here are E. Collinge, Fred Durick, "Tiny" Hooper, E. Rossiter, E. W. Maynard, L. Cutt, Carew Martin, K.C., R. Martin, C. Sears, A. Jones, Brown, Guthrie, Michelin, Chambers and Nation.

On August 3, 1914, the Fusiliers were drilling in the old Drill Hall on Menzies Street. At 10 o'clock that night the late Col. John A. Hall announced war had been declared in Europe, the men could consider themselves mobilized for active service, and it was in order to pick the softest boards for their beds.

They remained there until 4 o'clock the next morning and then marched to their clubrooms at Fort and Langley Streets, a building subsequently used as a residence by the late L. D. Chetham. Some of the Fusiliers picked easy chairs. Others slept on the floor until 5.30 o'clock when they were told to go home for their shaving kits and tooth and hair brushes.

Fusiliers returned to their clubrooms at 7 o'clock the same morning. Led by their band, they marched to the east side of the old Drydock at Esquimalt, where they pitched their tents.

Maynard, who was sergeant-major, called for volunteers who could drive a motor car. Four men, including Durick, stepped smartly forward, thinking it might lead to a soft job. Maynard promptly ordered the four on fatigue duty with wheelbarrows. Durick, who is now assistant caretaker at the Armoury, never forgot the incident.

Poor Fuel Causes Ash at Brentwood

War conditions prevent the B.C. Electric Railway Co. from getting suitable coal for the Brentwood plant and residents have lodged complaints that ashes settle on homes, gardens, cars and boats.

"Lack of power arising from the unusually dry season, and oil restrictions force us to maintain the coal-burning plant in continuous operation," A. T. Goward, vice-president, said yesterday in commenting on complaints received. Unfortunately, he added, the company was obliged to use coal of a high ash content at times. Condition would be improved when, after the war, the company was able to obtain the right type of fuel.

Graduates of Officers' Course in East

W.W. RODERICK E. GROVES

W.O. LESLEY A. McCRIMMON

TWO navy men who make their homes in Victoria are pictured above. They are recent graduates of an officers' course at an Eastern Canadian port.

Warrant Wardmaster Groves, R.C.N., is a Victoria High School graduate and joined the navy in July, 1937, as a sick berth attendant. He was subsequently advanced to sick berth petty officer before being promoted to his present rank last March. He has eight months' sea time to his credit, having served aboard H.M.C.S. Prince Robert. A druggist in civilian life he was a well-known athlete, having gained prominence as a baseball and soccer player, and is also remembered in Victoria as a member of local bands. His mother lives at 2891 Austin Avenue.

Warrant Officer McCrimmon, R.C.N.V.R., was a contractor before joining the navy in March, 1943, and was promoted to his present rank four months ago. His wife lives at 1150 McKenzie Street.

Killed in Action

LIEUT. EARL H. HARCOURT

Only son of Col. and Mrs. P. V. Harcourt, Brentwood, Lieut. Harcourt, 19, has been reported killed in action on July 18 at Harcourt, Normandy, the home of his ancestors. Born at Halifax, he was on loan to the British army from his regiment, the 1st Battalion, Highland Light Infantry. His father, Col. P. V. Harcourt, O.B.E., had 46 years' service in the army before he retired recently. A brother, Sub-Lieut. P. W. E. Harcourt, is in the R.C.N.V.R., and a sister, Cpl. Florence Harcourt, stationed at Calgary. Lieut. Harcourt enlisted in June, 1942, and was commissioned in August, 1943.

To Receive Award

Staff Sgt. H. A. Rogers, Victoria, will shortly be eligible for the Long Service Efficiency Decoration. One of the best-known senior N.C.O.'s in the service, he is a veteran of the first Great War and was mentioned in dispatches and received the Military Medal for outstanding conduct at Cambrai in 1918.

Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, V.C., C.B., D.S.O., M.C., now G.O.C. Pacific Command, enlisted in the same company and received training under Rogers.

S.Sgt. Rogers has a son training as a pilot in the East, and a daughter, Muriel, in the W.R.C.N.S. at Halifax.

First Letter From Son in Three Years

H. Maylor, 1303 Gladstone Avenue, has received the first word from his son for years. Howard Edward Maylor has been interned as a prisoner of war to Japanese hands since the fall of Hongkong in 1941.

The letter reads in part: "I am alive and well, but there is not much I can say," and continued, "Am praying for the day I will be with you again."

The note received was short owing to Japanese restrictions and it bore, stamped on the envelope in English, "Prisoner of War Mail," and the point of origin, "Tokio."

Maylor was 18 at the time he was sent to Hongkong with the R.C.C.S. He was born in Victoria and attended local public schools and Victoria High School. An elder brother, Jack, has been overseas with a signal unit for two and one-half years.

Army Enlistments

Recent army recruits from Victoria and district were: George Davies, 1401 Rockland Avenue; Robert Hadley, 3151 Ellice Street; David L. Martin, 1351 Harrison Street; David M. Darvill, 144 Olive Street; Eric O. M. Ely, 2453 Currie Street; John A. Cowlin, 3340 Richmond Road.

Up-Island enlistments were: Albert Seriani and Richard B. Jackson, Nanaimo; Brudenell J. Deane-Freeman, Langford; Roger M. Paquette and John Jacobson, Port Alberni; Duncan Connah, Alberni; John T. D. Kennedy, Sandwick; James L. Paterson, Parksville; Victor C. Pinholm, Nanoose Bay, and Clement N. Frost, Duncan.

There was also a C.W.A.C. enlistment, Gislina S. Borgfjord, Campbell River.

Eight men from local "H.D." units have gone on active service.

Gets Control Post

Capt. E. B. Corby, in a letter to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Corby, Vimy Avenue, advises of his appointment on the staff of the Allied Control Commission. This commission is concerned with the government and administration of the territories occupied by the Allies and is composed of personnel from British, American and Canadian armies.

Capt. Corby, who has been stationed in Italy since the capture of Naples, writes most interestingly of periods of leave which he has spent in Sicily, and just recently in Rome and Vatican City.

Missing After Air Operations

P.O. John Armstrong, R.C.A.F., son of Mrs. Ruth Armstrong, 1377 Bond Street, is reported missing after air operations overseas. An air navigator graduate in March, 1943, P.O. Armstrong, 21, was attached to the Ferry Command on the Atlantic Coast before being posted overseas.

Officer Wounded

Lieut. Donald H. Yardley, R.C.E., has been wounded in the fighting at Caen, July 26, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Yardley, 146 Wellington Avenue, have been informed. Born at Estevan, Sask., 26 years ago, Lieut. Yardley was graduated in mining engineering at Queen's University, Kingston, Ont. His wife resides in the East.

Brother Missing

P.O. Clarence F. MacDougall, reported missing after air operations overseas, is a brother of Mrs. C. Mangian, of Victoria, and the son of Colin F. MacDougall, well-known member of the Provincial Public Works Department staff at Nelson, and Mrs. MacDougall. He had been overseas since September, 1943, and was flying with the Goose Squadron.

Injured Overseas

Gnr. Ronald B. Simmons, R.C.A., has been wounded in the action in Normandy. Son of Hon. W. C. Simmons, former Chief Justice of Alberta, and Mrs. Simmons, 2640 Cotswold Road, Uplands, Gnr. Simmons is a well-known barrister of Calgary, where his wife and family reside.

PRAISE SPEECH

LONDON, Aug. 3 (CP).—Editorials in London Wednesday newspapers interpreted Prime Minister Churchill's war report to the House of Commons today as a call for a final effort toward an earlier complete victory. The Evening News said the Prime Minister's reference to Japan "one of the surprises of the speech," adding "that sense of growing Japanese weakness at sea and in the air to which he referred must be considerable to have occasioned so significant a change of estimate."

Tax Interest Of Companies C.C.F. Plans

CALGARY, Aug. 3 (CP).—Premier T. C. Douglas of Saskatchewan said in a provincial election campaign speech tonight that his Government believed it could tax interest now leaving the province when paid to companies with headquarters in Eastern Canada.

"We believe we can get money from the mortgage companies which obtain large sums from the West, although they have not even an office in the West," said Mr. Douglas, who was elected as leader of the first C.C.F. Government in June.

"We believe we can tax interest and can keep some of the interest which now is leaving Saskatchewan."

Speaking in support of C.C.F. candidates in the Alberta election of August 8, Mr. Douglas said that his Government, as would a C.C.F. Government elected in Alberta, had to face the problem of where money required to extend social services would come from. The provinces were without the Dominion's power to create money and had to have revenue.

"We propose to get the money from the people who have it rather than from those who can't afford it," he continued.

"There are monopolies controlling essential commodities, with the prices fixed in Eastern Canada. In Saskatchewan we believe we can tell such monopolies they must sell through a Government board and at fair prices. By this method we believe that some of the profits can be held for the people."

Answering a question, Mr. Douglas said that the Reconstruction Council of Saskatchewan had presented a brief suggesting the Pearce irrigation project in Eastern Alberta and Western Saskatchewan be undertaken as soon as possible, at an estimated cost of $300,000,000. Saskatchewan would be glad, when the war was over or materials became available, to co-operate with the Dominion and Alberta Governments in getting the project under way.

On another question, Mr. Douglas said that his Government had no present intention of canceling oil leases, but in the future they would be brought under a provincial scheme. The plan was that those obtaining leases in the future would have them with the proviso that the province might take over the product or the property when it wished.

Mr. Douglas said that the "alibi" given by Federal Agriculture Minister Gardiner for the defeat of the Liberals in the Saskatchewan election was that the people had voted against wartime restrictions of which they were tired.

"What a terrible indictment of any people it is to say that," Mr. Douglas said. "No province has made a greater contribution to winning the war than Saskatchewan. They don't object to wartime restrictions, but they do object to the burdens being placed on the common people, while the vested interests make fortunes."

Armies of Liberation

Mr. Churchill has encouraged the free world by his guarded and finely shaded speech in the House of Commons, Westminster; a speech which referred to the advent of the closing stages of the war, and one which visioned an earlier terminus to the blood-letting than any United Nations' war leader could have permitted himself even so recently as six months ago. It is a world that will respond to the Prime Minister's declaration: "I fear greatly of raising false hopes, but I no longer feel bound to deny that victory may come perhaps soon." Perhaps no more vibrant words have been spoken upon the side of freedom since the world conflict commenced almost five years ago.

Mr. Churchill's phrase—"the armies of liberation"—sets the purpose and also envisions the day when that liberation will indeed come. It is a thought that the free world has hardly permitted itself any time in the last five years. No one will forget that the Armies of Liberation have yet to force that victory; nor need any one deny that they are setting about it in a thoroughly workmanlike manner, east, south and west around a failing foe. "Victory may come perhaps soon." Cautious to the end, Mr. Churchill adds a "may" and a "perhaps," as any prudent man must. But what the free world in its heart will read is that victory will come soon. And what a dawn that will be to a saddened and a blackened world.

Like the good soldier that he is, Mr. Churchill knows that battles have to be fought to be won. He never has underestimated the enemy. He is not doing so now. Carefully he sets his reasons out in advance. The free world has merged, and remains of one mind in regard to the foe. Forces adequate to the victory have been assembled, and will be used. Pressure, in ever growing intensity, is being applied to the aggressors, who have not known a success in 12 months' time. Some day that pressure will crush the enemy, and there will be victory in the field—the precursor to victory in the war, and victory in a lasting peace.

At Cairo, at Quebec, at Teheran, at Moscow these plans were laid months ago. Now they are being worked out in the field. So we have what amounts to a victory schedule, and the free world seems abreast of its commitments in that. But because the heart of man needs encouragement quite as much as his mind, Mr. Churchill's words will be thrice welcome today. It is for us at home to cheer on the Armies of Liberation, and to help them in every possible way. It will be for us at home to remember, when peace comes, what was its cost: and to see to it that the counsel of free nations is not again caught napping in an inflammable and brittle world.

Training Contemplated

Ever a welcome visitor in British Columbia, Dr. George M. Weir, Director of Rehabilitation and Training in the Department of Pensions and National Health, made a good job of his explanation of Dominion plans for returning veterans while speaking in the city this week. Two assurances in that connection are specially welcome. One is that Canadian men and women with the armed forces who wish to return to university after the war will be assisted to do so, and helped to complete their courses there. The other, of much broader scope, is the assurance that every veteran desiring vocational training will be given that chance for a year, or for longer if his aptitude is demonstrated.

Dr. Weir praised British Columbia preparations for returning veterans, and that praise was merited. His remarks were welcome particularly because they dealt with what the Dominion will do; and there was considerable enlightenment in that. His reference to Canadian plans for civil re-establishment as foremost among the United Nations in this field appeared to rest upon his inner convictions, as one who has been very closely identified with this work. And Dr. Weir's assurance in that regard is right welcome.

The main principles—that men should be honestly cared for upon their return, that incompleted schooling will be finished, that civil retraining will be opened to those who desire it—are sound. If these principles, and others concerned in the case, can be carried into practical effect, Canada will not go far wrong in the postwar resettlement of its fighting forces. To Dr. Weir himself, doing an excellent piece of work for Canada, will go the hearty congratulations of those who have the veterans' interests truly at heart. Westerners speak out, and it is so in this case.

Turkey Breaking Relations

Signs that Germany's friends are diminishing and its enemies multiplying can be seen on every hand. Turkey's rumored break in diplomatic relations with the Reich comes after a long course of veering neutrality. It would have been of more service to the Allies had it come at an earlier date, but coming when it does it should still help to hasten the enemy's collapse. It is presumed that it will be followed by the opening of the Dardanelles to Allied shipping, and the granting of bases for air and military operations.

Though coming late, these concessions should be of value in expediting the end of the war. It will be remembered that in the last war Turkey was on the enemy's side, so that her swing to the Allies adds another item to our already marked predominance. Moreover, it often follows that a break in diplomatic relations is succeeded by actual participation in the war itself. Should the Germans accede to the temptation to attack Turkey, it would make it inevitable.

Further than this, examples of this kind are often contagious. Germany's other allies are apt to take it as warning to themselves, and they may hasten to follow rather than await the doom of a sure and final defeat. In Finland there has already been a change of government, and it is quite possible that the aged warrior Mannerheim may now become the apostle of peace for his perplexed nation. In the last war, first Bulgaria, then Turkey and Austria fell out in rapid succession; and Germany, left alone, was hurried into inescapable defeat. While it is not always true that history repeats itself, it may well do so in the course of present events.

Historic Memories

The battle for Florence revives historic memories. It is an ancient battle ground trodden by the armies of the Guelphs and Ghibbelines, and the seat of many a bitter civil conflict. But chiefly its interest lies in its treasures of art, and relics of the great. Unless destroyed in the present siege Dante's house still stands grim and square, suggestive in outline of pictures of the great poet, the man who, according to his fellow Florentines, had walked through hell. There is the bridge over the Arno where he is said to have met Beatrice, destined later to lead him through Paradise, and show him the multitudes "like to the petals of a snow white rose," and the wonderful river of light throwing off countless sparkling gems.

There, too, is the Uffizi Gallery with masterpieces by Raphael, Titian and Botticelli. There is the chapel of the Medici with its golden altar railings and filigreed dome, made of material obtained by Spanish adventurers from the Indians of the New World they had conquered. That the spoils should be used to ornament a temple of the Prince of Peace is one of history's anomalies. But there it is, ornate and magnificent.

Florence is a city ornamented by exquisite statuary, and bearing on every side the marks of the masters of art. Let us hope that its destruction will be spared in the battle, if the enemy makes that possible for us.

Seen in Passing

The Ancients knew that the most dignified role of mortals on this planet was silence: silence, that is, when there was nothing useful that could be said. It is only in a world where everyone wants to talk, and at the same time, that bedlam has come. It is the art of listening, not of speaking, that should now be cultivated. Listeners at least do not add to the confusion of speeches without any audience, conversations that go totally unheard, "pieces" that find their way into the wastepaper baskets of a nation, a continent, a world. And listeners should be paid. They earn it!

When freedom returns we shall have grown unaccustomed to it. Fancy taking a railway journey without asking anyone's permission. Imagine buying in a grocery store anything that is desired in that line, without coupons. Trousers with cuffs and no questions; tea by the pound or by the double pound; dental treatment without appointment; a physician at the end of the telephone—who ever heard of such things? Yet peace must bring that, and quite a deal more—including the traits of fair play, consideration and courtesy for fellow travelers on life's one-way journey.

We do not like that part of the weather report that speaks of the mean temperature. Too often that is an entirely accurate description in the worst sense of the word. There is a cold blast after a scorching hot day, or a haymaker when one is dressed for cold weather. The mean temperature may look well in published reports. It may fit in well with the tourist guides. But who knows what humanity suffers with a mean temperature?

To Autumn

Season of mists and mellow fruitfulness!
Close bosom-friend of the maturing sun;
Conspiring with him how to load and bless
With fruit the vines that round the thatch-eaves run;
To bend with apples the moss'd cottage-trees,
And fill all fruit with ripeness to the core;
To swell the gourd, and plump the hazel shells
With a sweet kernel; to set budding more,
And still more, later flowers for the bees,
Until they think warm days will never cease,
For Summer has o'er-brimm'd their clammy cells.

Who hath not seen thee oft amid thy store?
Sometimes whoever seeks abroad may find
Thee sitting careless on a granary floor,
Thy hair soft-lifted by the winnowing wind;
Or on a half-reap'd furrow sound asleep,
Drows'd with the fume of poppies, while thy hook
Spares the next swath and all its twined flowers;
And sometimes like a gleaner thou dost keep
Steady thy laden head across a brook;
Or by a cider-press, with patient look,
Thou watchest the last oozings, hours by hours . . .

THE MYSTERY OF THE EXPLODING FUEHRER—II

The attempt on the life of Der Fuehrer was staged, encouraged, or used to divert a real intention of high officers of the Wehrmacht to sue for peace, and overthrow Hitler. Count Claus von Stauffenberg may have made a fanatic and hopeless attempt out of sheer despair; but it was not part of an organized plot in the sense Dr Joseph Goebbels described it. There was only a Wehrmacht plot in the making, which the Nazis anticipated.

Goebbels also gave that away. In their speeches, both Hitler and Goebbels said, "They can't play Badoglio with us." High-ranking members of the officers' corps, desperately caught between Scylla and Charybdis, were undoubtedly seeking a way out that might spare Germany from utter chaos and Europe and themselves from what is now coming.

The Scylla was defeat. The Charybdis was what the Nazis would do to Germany and Europe before the final collapse. The assassination of Hitler would not help unless it brought immediate peace, on terms that would exclude the annihilation of the German state, and give the German anti-Hitler forces some shred of authority. As everyone who carefully reads the papers has observed, emissaries of Wehrmacht officers have been secretly approaching the Allies, both Russian and Anglo-American, trying to create a [illegible] in which they could liquidate Nazism and end the war.

From Stockholm we were informed that "conservative German circles" had approached the Russian ambassador, Mme. Alexandra Kollontai.

At the same time there have undoubtedly been overtures to the British ambassador, Sir Samuel Hoare, in Madrid, British circles in Switzerland, and through the Vatican to Anglo-Americans in Rome.

Heinrich Himmler acted before the Wehrmacht could. The Wehrmacht was impotent because it could get nothing from us except "unconditional surrender."

History will judge whether we have been wise in our political conduct of the war and in the unconditional surrender formula. But the result of this counter-stroke of the Nazis can already be foreseen. Under the pressure of dramatic events it is almost forgotten that Goebbels announced weeks ago the considered intention of the Nazis to bring about in defeat the destruction of Europe. At that time it was argued: "What can they do that they have not done before? Shoot a few more hostages? Send more robot bombs?" These will not change the course of the war.

It is a mistake to underestimate the Nazis. They intend to bring down the entire social structure of Europe.

If a great many ignoramuses had not been telling us for a long time that Nazism is only another manifestation of Prussian militarism and that Prussian militarism is only an expression of the whole German nation, we would have a better concept of what the Nazis are capable of. Nazism did not start as a conservative movement, but as a rabble-rousing, Nihilistic, revolutionary gangster movement, and that is how it will end.

The cry that is now being raised has been implicit in the Nazi movement from the beginning, and has been only mitigated by the conservative German forces now being liquidated. Robert Ley let himself loose with the scream of "down with the blue-blooded swine!" The immediate result of untrammeled Nazi control will be that every decent person in Germany is going to be classed as a reactionary and liquidated. The idea of turning the Fascist movement to the rabble, giving untrammeled leeway to the dregs of humanity was born in Mussolini's mind with his downfall and it is significant that he is on the spot, with Hitler, as this new phase begins.

We should expect to see all the slogans usually associated with Bolshevism come out of Germany now, while the masses of all Europe are encouraged to blind violence and directionless civil war, while the Nazis at the same time murder foreign workers in Germany, trying to raise the German workers against them, out of sheer terror for their own lives. The slogans already are "equalization of the burdens of war," and "defense against the imperialist plutocracies."

This will not help the Nazis to win the war. But they plan to make any victory chimerical, catastrophic and worthless. They count on the Allies being unable to deal with the forces they will loose, and on a peace that will but deepen disillusionment throughout Europe. They dream of creating such chaos that the Allied armies will have to use Draconic measures to suppress it, through which measures the burden of despairing hate will be diverted to the Allies from themselves.

And in Germany there will be no counter-authority — political, military or moral—to restrain them.

Observation Car

By G.B.

"If you are contemplating the purchase of a lot upon which to construct a dwelling, take note of the following," a reader writes. "Watch out for clumps of couch grass. It takes years to get rid of the nuisance because even a tiny piece of root left in the soil will sprout. Some gardeners in Fairfield district have been fighting it for a long time. Have the soil analyzed. You may find that it lacks a number of elements and requires costly fertilization before it will produce vegetables. See if anybody on the street has a truck. If there is one, you will probably be awakened by it roaring past anywhere from 5 to 8 o'clock in the morning. Try to learn the number of dogs in the block. If there are more than three or four, you can count on a lot of unrestrained barking at any hour of the day or night. Do not choose a street which is used by taxis. There are several well-defined routes used to reach Oak Bay, Hillside, James Bay, Foul Bay and Oak Bay districts. You will be amazed at the speed and noise, and danger to children on such routes. Do not choose a location that appears to be low. You will find it produces more frost and dampness in the Winter. Unless you want to lose lots of sleep, do not build too close to a street car line. It is handy to be close to a tram when one wants a few extra minutes' sleep in the morning, but it is annoying to lie in bed and listen to the clattering vehicles roaring past, or to hear the racket in your radio set. You will find that it is not always good policy to build next to a duplex dwelling in which tenants frequently change. Not all neighbors are good neighbors. Take note of the number of cats in the block, unless you do not mind being awakened in the dark of night by unearthly howls. Also scout around for chickens. Cackling hens and roosters are the foe of light sleepers."

C.C.F. CANDIDATE

Sir,—Since my nomination as C.C.F. Federal candidate for Victoria I have received so many assurances of support and letters of congratulation that I would like to ask the privilege of your columns to convey to all my sincere appreciation.

I have accepted this responsibility not because of any desire to appear as a public figure but simply because I feel there is an urgent need for serious young men at Ottawa who have studied economics and public affairs and are prepared to strike out anew and build a better Canada.

As we near the day when almost a million Canadians in uniform will return to civilian life I feel it is urgently necessary that we have some Members of Parliament who are themselves servicemen and from their own experience know the views and problems and needs of those who have served in the forces. Realizing that need I have accepted the nomination.

While I am in Victoria on leave between August 18 and 26 I hope to meet as many supporters as possible. I would appreciate it if all who would like to meet me would write to me c/o Woodsworth Hall, Pandora and Quadra, or phone c/o E 6477.

Where blanks occur in the table, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

To find the depth of water on the sill of the Esquimalt Drydock at any tide, add 30.6 feet to the height of high water as above given.

of the Vistula by the Red Army. From Polish sources in London comes news the Poles inside Warsaw have already revolted and are taking over the capital from beaten Huns.

Editorially dealing with Prime Minister Churchill's optimistic review of the war's progress, The Times reports there are many signs that the hour of decision is at hand. Mighty achievements are coming to fruition and Prime Minister Churchill distributed credit for these widely, as was due. One conspicuous omission from his honor list was himself. But he has no need to claim applause. His place among Allied leaders is forever unique.

He it was who ploughed the loneliest furrow and sowed in the bleakest season of English history. Now, in this late Summer, he begins to bring his sheaves home.

Strategy which he has just vindicated—he began years ago to lay plans for the return to Western Europe but refused to compromise plans by launching the invasion before the arduous preliminary task of clearing the Mediterranean was complete—is pre-eminently his own.

Justly may he pride himself upon the fighting qualities of his eponymous tank, eminent alike in defence and offence. It is the quality of his own contribution to victory that gives value to the praise he bestowed upon so many yesterday.

Dealing with new terror weapons directed against London, The Times points out the people here are resolute to endure the blind brutality that the Germans exhibit. No scruple will restrain them. How far they have gone now in calculated inhumanity is once more proved by the fully-authenticated and hideous story of the cold-blooded murder of Canadian prisoners.

Russian Drive

Russian troops were reported even nearer prewar Germany in Western Lithuania, attacking toward East Prussia on a broad front. Moscow dispatches said these units were only three miles from East Prussia, fighting near Virbalis and Wisztiny and preparing to leap the border after an intensive shelling of Nazi concentrations across the border. The Soviet bulletin said 200 more localities had been taken by the Russians west and northwest of Kaunas, fallen former Lithuanian capital.

A total of nearly 800 towns and villages was captured by the Russians on all fronts during the day, Moscow said. These included 30 west of Rezekne in Eastern Latvia, where powerful Soviet armies were hurling the Germans back toward the Gulf of Riga after other Russian units had cut their landward escape routes by seizing points along the gulf.

Two hundred localities were taken by Marshal Konev's troops west and southwest of Jaroslaw, including Sanok, 37 miles southwest of Jaroslaw and only 18 miles from the Czecho-Slovak frontier.

On a 70-mile front in the north Gen. Ivan Cherniakhovsky's Third White Russian Army was threatening momentarily to break into East Prussia proper and for the first time in the war carry a real fight into the German homeland.

In Latvia other Russian troops had established a broad corridor from Northern Lithuania to the Gulf of Riga, cutting off the land escape routes of a Nazi force estimated by Prime Minister Churchill at 20 or 30 divisions—up to 300,000 men.

The Russians were less than 30 miles from the Latvian capital of Riga, and had sealed off most of that country and all of Estonia.

Three other powerful Soviet army groups were hammering the Germans back westward in Estonia and Eastern Latvia.

Allied Strategy

5. The wider possibility that the United States First Army, having swept through Rennes until it has closed the exits from Brittany, also will swing leftwards in its turn and head for Paris.

The Germans' Brittany garrison is believed to comprise only two or three weak divisions and a comparatively small force could contain these while the Allied main body swung eastwards with its left flank anchored on the Channel.

tween their fallen road centres of Mortain and Vire.

The announcement of Rennes' fall came from the United States Secretary of War, Henry L. Stimson, in Washington and was in advance of information available to correspondents at Allied Supreme Headquarters.

The weakness of the defence of such a strategic city as Rennes bore out indications that the Germans had only a few garrison divisions and the remnants of mauled divisions driven out of Normandy for a defence of the immense peninsula. Americans heading for Brest probably were well past Dinan after crossing the Rance River, 118 miles to the east.

AIR FORCES RESUME BLASTING CAMPAIGN

Allied air forces in rising force resumed their bridge-blasting campaign to keep the sprawling Loire-Seine triangle sealed off and prevent the Germans from bringing up forces for a counter-attack against [illegible] the peninsula.

Gen. Eisenhower made his tenth visit to the Allied battlefront, conferred with Gen. Montgomery, commander of Allied ground forces, and Gen. Bradley, the American commander, and returned to England "all smiles."

As the enemy defences in Brittany wilted in the storm of fire, and as the British forces hammered out new gains south of Caumont, one Allied officer declared: "If this isn't the blow-up, it certainly looks like a reasonable facsimile."

Gen. Montgomery declared "We are hitting the Hun a good crack," and jokingly asked a roadside press conference: "When will the war end?"

With losses in prisoners rocketing toward the 100,000 mark, with confusion and indecision spreading, and with a thin garrison to oppose the armored drive in Brittany, the enemy admitted his position was critical.

The best unofficial estimate here was that the Breton Peninsula might fall by the week-end, with nothing more than a desperate last-ditch defence of Brest, with the enemy organizing for a stand along the south bank of the Lire River, 60 miles or so south of Rennes.

The enemy's front appeared to be collapsing all the way to Caen, and another trap was forming for two German armored divisions trying to hold back the storm northeast of Avranches.

To the northeast, the German anchor of Villers-Bocage was tottering. Menaced on three sides, the Germans withdrew from the town and were fighting on the outskirts.

These forces also were threatened from the rear by a British force which fought within a mile of Aunay, four miles south of Villers-Bocage.

ACTIVE IN SABOTAGE

OTTAWA, Aug. 3 (CP). — The French Information Service announced tonight it had received reports that French forces of the interior carried out an estimated 1,800 derailments behind the lines in Normandy in the period June 6 to July 26. Intensified sabotage activity has forced the Germans to move troops and war equipment onto the French roads to protect their convoys with machine guns and cannon, the service said.

The bidding:

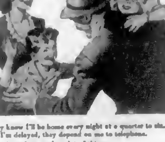

South	West	North	East
1 ♥	Pass	3 ♦	Pass
3 NT	Pass	6 NT

South would have been better advised to start with one no trump, but there certainly was nothing wrong with the final contract. A three-three break of hearts would have given North-South 12 top tricks, and even though hearts did not break the slam still should have been made due to the fortunate position of spades.

The declarer, however, nullified that spade position at the very first trick. West opened the spade nine, and declarer, perhaps from sheer carelessness, perhaps because the 10 seemed just as worthless as the seven or three, played the highest card from dummy. That play alone was his undoing. He ran all his tricks in diamonds and clubs, but East held on to his heart stopper for grim death, and the result was a one trick defeat.

Now observe how valuable that 10 of spades should have been. Declarer ducks the first trick, conceding to East's spade jack, wins the spade continuation and cashes the clubs and the diamonds. On the last diamond declarer has a worthless spade to discard, but East is not so fortunate. In order to keep his heart stopper he has to abandon his last spade, and the ten thereupon becomes the fulfilling trick. Of course, if East prefers he can hold the high spade, but then declarer easily takes every one of his hearts.

Japanese Control of Pacific Cut by American Conquests

WASHINGTON Aug 2 (CP).—Along with personnel loss estimated as high as 500,000 killed, the Japanese are seeing a slow but sure whittling away of the island bases they obtained in their southeastward sweep of conquest across the Pacific.

[illegible] len and Saipan threaten to cut in half the ocean area of control Japan had acquired in the nine months following the attack on Pearl Harbor December 7, 1941.

But this half contains only the small island bases and part of New Guinea, leaving the Philippines and East Indies still in Japanese hands, as well as her mainland conquests.

However, the strategy of island-hopping has already immobilised [illegible] and a successful attack on the Philippine Islands may render comparatively simple the ultimate recovery of the Indies area.

At the end of July, 1942, the Japanese virtually controlled the Pacific within an area bounded by horizontal line crossing just above the northern tip of Australia, eastward to the 180th meridian and north on that line to include the Aleutian Islands of Kiska and Attu.

Now the line has moved far west to nearly the 160th meridian from Paramushiro, in the Japanese Kuriles, south to New Guinea, and present operations may move it even farther to the 140th meridian.

From point of view of air power, [illegible] the Allied air command virtually controls the air almost to the mainland. The bases now being fought over in the Marianas put the Allies within 1,800 air miles of both Japan and the Philippines.

Outstanding developments in the campaign to whittle down the Japanese area of control were the capture of the Aleutian Islands of Attu and Kiska, the conquest of the Solomons, the bloody but successful fight for Eastern New Guinea, and the subsequent island-hopping which has brought the Allied forces to almost within striking distance of the Philippines and Japan itself.

It has been an expensive campaign for both sides, but most expensive to the Japanese, whose killed are estimated as high as 500,000 and who are believed to have lost nearly 3,000,000 effectives since their attack on China 10 years ago.

The American Navy communiques have listed 162 Japanese ships of war sunk, 33 believed sunk and 176 damaged. These include 78 destroyers, two battleships, 90 cruisers and seven carriers known to have been sunk.

The Japanese are also known to have lost 779 cargo, transport and other vessels sunk by Allied action. Japanese aircraft losses are estimated in excess of 12,000.

American naval losses alone exceed 180 known to be sunk or captured, including 43 destroyers, six heavy cruisers, three light cruisers, 26 submarines and six aircraft carriers.

NOT COMPLIMENTARY

OTTAWA, Aug. 3 (CP). — A. W. Neill, Independent member for the Pacific Coast riding of Comox-Alberni, speaking yesterday on fish floor price legislations, urged fishermen be allowed to run their own affairs.

He said: "I would not let the Government run anything. I would not let them run even a funeral because they would be liable to bury the wrong man."

Postwar Plans Are Described

Declaring Canada's rehabilitation programme was the most comprehensive and most generous of any similar plan throughout the world, Dr. George M. Weir, Director of Training, Department of National Health, Ottawa, in addressing [illegible] terday at the Empress Hotel related outstanding proposals, gave detailed information concerning rehabilitation plans, and assured his listeners there would be more than 1,000,000 new jobs in the postwar period. He affirmed Canada was on the threshold of great expansion, according to a study made by himself and confirmed by other independent sources.

What the Government was preparing for returned men and women of the forces was clearly outlined by Dr. Weir, former British Columbia Minister of Education and Provincial Secretary who, in ringing tones, and fired with optimism, stated there would be no avoidable disablement after this war. Grants would be available to soldiers, sailors and airmen on a scale not known after the last war, and another difference lay in the distribution of those grants to discharged servicemen and servicewomen, conforming with the order in council, and not only to those disabled.

Maintenance would be paid for 52 weeks, and longer, if necessary, to those taking vocational training, and P.C. 5210 also provided for help in starting a business.

Educational training programmes were the most liberal in the world, Dr. Weir said. He explained the veteran received training according to the length of his service, with pay of $60 a month if single, and $80 if married. An additional $12 was supplied for the first two children, $10 for the third, and $8 for the remainder. Free tuition fees, he emphasized, would be continued until graduation, and into postgraduate work. Dr. Weir remarked the university training included music, art, theology, physiotherapy and occupational therapy, in addition to the other professions.

"If the training is in the public interest, it may be extended beyond the period of service," he stated.

MAY SECURE TRAINING YEAR AFTER WAR

There were already 138 discharged veterans in Vancouver, Dr. Weir stated, and these, and the others to be discharged, could apply until 12 months after the war for their training.

"More than 1,000,000 new jobs will be available in the early postwar period if Canada progresses as we hope it will," he declared.

Dr. Weir believed one-half or more would return to former positions being held open for them by employers, and the remainder would be helped by the Government. One out of 12 knew exactly what he wanted to do, Dr. Weir related, and out of 360,000 interviewed men and women in the services, 212,000 had a general preference, while 108,000 had no choice, and 80 per cent needed guidance. The Government was building up a strong counseling service, Dr. Weir explained.

Co-operation between industry and Government would be necessary to further rehabilitation schemes, Dr. Weir said. He declared collective enterprise must be fostered by Federal, provincial and municipal governments, and further by service clubs, industry and labor.

He was introduced by Percy B. Scurrah and thanked by Colin Martin, chairman.

Pioneer Teacher Dies

Prominent in Victoria's education circles in the early days, Joseph Frederick Sallaway died this week at his home in Santa Barbara, Calif., in his 86th year. Born in London, England, Mr. Sallaway taught school in Victoria for 43 years before retiring in 1930.

He first arrived here in 1887. For thirteen years he was principal of Victoria West School, and held the same position at Quadra Street School. He also taught at Boys' Central School. Mr. Sallaway had instructed many of Victoria's prominent businessmen and their sons.

For five years he acted as choirmaster at the Reformed Episcopal Church under Bishop Cridge, and he was also a past master of Victoria-Columbia Lodge, A.F. and A.M.

Mr. Sallaway is survived by his widow, four sons, Henry M. and William M., Victoria; Thomas, Cowichan Lake, George F., Santa Barbara, three daughters, Mrs. W. C. Hillier, Salinas, Calif., Mrs. G. A. Grabendike and Mrs. Vernon Lawson, both of Riverside.

Funeral services will be held at Riverside next Monday.

BAGS U-BOAT

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3 (AP).—Three United States destroyer escorts bagged a U-boat which sought to attack an Atlantic convoy recently, the Navy said tonight, adding that one and a half hours of fighting preceded the sinking of the submarine "off the Atlantic coast." About a dozen of the raider's crew, including her commander, were taken prisoners.

WILL VISIT ARCTIC

OTTAWA, Aug. 3 (CP).—A plane carrying Canadian Government officials to study the United States airports in the Eastern Arctic will leave Ottawa August 9 flying to Churchill, it was learned tonight.

The officials will inspect the bases at The Pas, Churchill, Southampton Island in Hudson Bay, Frobisher Bay on Baffin Island, Port Chimo on Hudson Strait and Mingan on Gulf of St. Lawrence.

Hear Evidence on Up-Island Teacher

NANAIMO, Aug. 3.—Now in receipt of all evidence on an appeal of H. K. Murray against his dismissal as principal of Port Alberni School, a board of reference of the Department of Education is preparing to present its finding to the Council of Public Instruction.

At a two-day hearing here, completed today, Mr. Murray presented [illegible] Board stating he was dismissed on three points: Causing dissension; failing to co-operate, and making untrue charges of discrimination by the School Board in salary adjustments.

Mrs. W. Hamilton, School Board chairman, said she could have reopened the salary question as requested by Mr. Murray. She felt his salary of $2,750 was enough. Referring to a general increase in staff salaries, she declared: "They had us over a barrel. We had to do as they asked or lose the school staff."

When counsel for the B.C. School Trustees' Association and the B.C. Teachers' Federation asked her if a new principal had been named, she asked, "Do I have to answer that question?" before stating, "Yes; it is a man from Kamloops."

A School Board witness declared dissension had existed in the school, but witnesses called by Mr. Murray denied this.

Major Chambers Will Be Candidate Again

Major Alan Chambers, M.P. for Nanaimo riding, now serving overseas, will be a candidate for re-election in the next Dominion election, according to information received by the Victoria Liberal Association.

He will remain overseas and his campaign will be conducted by supporters here, it was stated. The announcement was in reply to recent statements that he intended to leave the political field.

Visitor From Moncton

Major A. W. Martin, commanding officer of the Moncton, N.B., Corps of the Salvation Army, is a visitor to Victoria. He was a bandsman of the local corps before leaving in November, 1911, for the Toronto Training College. All his appointments have been in the Eastern Provinces. In his present command special interest is taken in airmen. The major is the national representative of the Salvation Army at the Maritime penitentiary in Dorchester, N.B., and Mrs. Martin, who is deeply interested in rescue work among women, is police matron at Moncton. Major Martin is a guest of his brother, Sergeant-Major Stanley Martin, of the Victoria West Corps. His father and sister also reside here. He will speak at the morning and evening meetings on Sunday at the Catherine Street hall.

Brazilian Troops In Italy Eager Soldiers

ROME, Aug. 3 (CP).—First troops of the Brazilian Army have arrived in Italy for a combat role. Early impressions have been much in their favor.

Their outstanding characteristic seems to be a high standard of per- [illegible] grueling route marches, taken in a free, easy sort of stride, or from workouts over a Tarzan-like maze of rope-swings, tight-walkers and climbs, the lads bee-line for the river-bank and a swim, or the showers, no matter how tired, or how ready "chow" is. It is as though the long, green-clad columns barely get back to camp before groups of well-built lads, attired only in shorts, draped with snow-white towels, hurry from the tents and prance down for a quick splash.

As they head for the water it strikes one that there really doesn't seem to be a Brazilian type. From short, stocky builds, black-haired and brown-eyed, the types range through the gamut to the tall, wiry blond complete with blue eyes. Brazilian Indians, negroes, and others, apparently of Oriental extraction, lend more variety.

The only uniform thing about them is that they all speak Portuguese. Many speak English; English and French being obligatory in the schools back home.

There are no volunteers in the Brazilian Army. Every young Brazilian must be a reservist, and to get a job even in peacetime, must be able to produce his military papers. [illegible] on the Axis two years ago, they can be sent to serve anywhere. Now these troops, whose average age is 26, first from Brazil to enter a theatre of war, are putting final touches on their training before getting to grips with the enemy.

The commander is Major-General Joao Batista Mascarenhas de Moraes, who has spent 46 of 61 years in the army.

Working about their billets and on their equipment, the boys sing constantly. The music seems to consist of slow, plaintive, nasal melodies.

Canadians and Americans here have welcomed these neighbors from south of the Panama into the ranks of the Allied armies in Italy, seeing in their arrival tangible evi- solidarity, and watch their progress with personal interest. Already The Maple Leaf, Canadian troopsheet, M.M.A., devoted to the Brazilians a two-column feature by Pte. V. R. Dafoe, of Winnipeg.

Will Aid Guerrillas

Plans are under way for a fund-raising event by Chinese-Canadian Youth Forum of Victoria to aid guerrilla armies in China, it was stated last night by Robert Lowe. Mrs. Bessie Tang, in charge of plans, told of progress made at a meeting at the home of Miss May Ngai last night, and reported generous support from business firms.

Richard Pon, Toronto, a guest, described Chinese young people's activities in Eastern Canada.

BRAND QUISLINGS

LE MONT ST. MICHEL, France, Aug. 3 (AP).—Members of Le Mont's only Quisling family have been dealt with quickly and quietly, their heads shaved and painted with big swastikas. Outside of that, this village on a rock 400 feet above the sea, familiar to sightseers, has been quietly by-passed by the war.

NOT REPRESENTED

WINNIPEG, Aug. 3 (CP).—Mayor Garnet Coulter of Winnipeg said today he had received a telegram from Munitions Minister Howe explaining that a Winnipeg or Manitoba representative could not be included in a forthcoming Government inspection of United States air bases in Northern Canada.

Large Raft in Port

A Davis raft containing 1,800,000 feet of spruce logs for airplane manufacture is being broken down here for the A. Y. Johnstone and Dalziel Box Co., Ltd., sawmills. It arrived here last Tuesday, and is believed to be the largest raft to enter this port from Queen Charlotte Islands. The spruce will be used in the manufacture of Mosquito planes.

Even if we had enough telephones (which we haven't)

and enough wires (which we haven't)

we still wouldn't have enough central office equipment

to give service to everyone

Thousands of people are being denied telephone service these days, not because of one shortage but because of many, all due to the war. And by no means least of the difficulties is the lack of central office equipment—switchboard, dial mechanism and so on.

There can be no change in the situation for the present, because factories that used to produce telephone equipment are now needed to fill war orders. In the meantime, essential needs, particularly those in connection with the war effort, must come first.

Commando Club Aids Red Cross Society

An ambitious little group of juveniles known as "The Commando Club," as the result of a successful fair held Wednesday afternoon in the garden of Major and Mrs. Arthur Webster, 968 Wilmer street, will turn over to the Victoria Red Cross Society a cheque for $26.60. Splendidly organized under their president, Geoffrey Conway, the boys and girls had the gardens prettily decorated with streamers suspended between the trees, and parents and other friends were present in flattering numbers to make up the audience which watched the graceful dancing of Gail Webster and Marylin Balcom, and the patrons of the fishpond managed by Russell Coleman. Other children looked after various other details, the committee in charge including Geoffrey Conway, Graeme Balcom, Gerry Webster and Innes Mackenzie. Dewey's Mother Receives Hundreds of Letters

By ROBERT A. APPLEGATE

OWOSSO, Mich., Aug. 3 (CP).—Mrs. George Dewey, mother of the Republican presidential candidate, Governor Thomas E. Dewey, of New York, has resolved to keep her life as normal as her son's admirers will permit, but she has indications that "normalcy" will be hard to achieve.

Since her return from Chicago where she saw her son nominated, Mrs. Dewey has received hundreds of letters from all parts of the United States—some of them congratulatory, some seeking information "about Tom when he was a boy" and others asking her to settle arguments. She answered them all and is "pretty well caught up" now they are arriving at the rate of only ten a day.

Her plans for the next few months are vague. She would like to visit the Thomas E. Dewey family in New York, but that depends on campaign plans. Meanwhile she continues to spend Friday mornings as a volunteer worker at Red Cross headquarters and Saturday afternoons at the Owosso hospital, trying at the same time to avoid the spotlight which has been turned on her and her activities.

Normally matter-of-fact and direct almost to the point of brusqueness in her conversation, Mrs. Dewey's voice softens and her eyes shine when she talks of her son. She refuses to speculate on the election. "After all, that's all in the hands of the campaign managers," she explains.

It is obvious that if Governor Tom does a good job during the campaign she'll be satisfied. Of his acceptance speech, she remarks, "Wasn't it good? I thought it was just right."

Mrs. Dewey thinks her son's platform manner hasn't changed much since he was a high school orator and debater. "He always did something to you when he talked—he was so sincere," she says—and then adds laughingly, "Of course, I might be prejudiced."

If she ever thought her son might grow up to be president, Mrs. Dewey doesn't say so, but she's emphatic in denying that she and Mr. Dewey, who died in 1927, had any special ambition for their son.

"We did not believe in picking out a career, but of course tried to guide him when he needed it," she says. "We really didn't want him to be a singer and we were very glad when he changed his mind—but he made his own choice."

She very much approves his choice of a wife, whom she describes as a "lovely and charming woman," and proudly shows pictures of Governor and Mrs. Dewey which she thinks do them justice. She is equally fond of her two grandsons.

The nominee's sons never have visited Owosso because their parents hesitated to bring them so far by train, but Mrs. George Dewey usually spends several weeks a year in New York with them.

Red Cross Notes

COLUMBA UNIT

The sum of $132.00 was realised at the garden party held at the home of Mrs. J. K. Frost under the auspices of the Columba Unit of the Red Cross on Wednesday afternoon.

Miss W. Seymour, convener, introduced Mrs. L. W. Miller who opened the fete and little Sylvia Rodd presented Mrs. L. Miller with a lovely bouquet of garden flowers.

Mrs. H. C. Pearce and Mrs. Stewart Clark from headquarters accompanied Mrs. Miller.

Games were supervised by Mr. W. C. Scott, Mr. R. Knight, Mr. G. Eves, Mr. Lawrence and Canon H. V. Hitchcox. The "odds and ends" stall and the bran-tub were in charge of Mrs. T. Wheliden and Mrs. E. Robinson. Sewing stall was presided over by Mrs. J. McNair Paterson and Mrs. G. Plater and the home-cooking stall was cared for by Mrs. J. Clark and Mrs. F. Dann.

Cold drinks and candy were dispensed by June and Shirley Knowlton whilst Mrs. H. Savage ran the wheel of fortune. Mrs. C. A. Berry was the "lady of 100 pockets" whilst Mrs. W. C. Scott and Mrs. G. Crosier managed tea tickets. The tea room was ably looked after by Mrs. F. Stacey, Mrs. R. Wilkinson, Miss Kate and Miss Edith Brown, Mrs. J. Partridge, Mrs. M. W. Sommers, Miss J. Rodd, Mrs. A. Willis, Joan and Hilda and Mrs. Moss.

Miss Mamie McAllister piped for the dances given by Christine Boyd and Ronnie Marrs. These children delighted the audience with the Highland Fling and Seann Truibhas whilst Christine also danced an Irish Jig in a very sprightly manner. Marylin Bassett was charming in the ballet dance. Mrs. J. K. Frost was hostess and Miss Seymour received the guests.

The cut-work tea cloth presented by Mrs. Rayner and Mrs. Eves was given to Mrs. Brown; the cushion was presented to Mrs. Martin, the box of groceries to Mrs. G. Plater, and the dresser-scarf was given to Mrs. Elliott.

American Woman Tells of Japan

Travel in foreign countries, meeting people of every sort, is one of the best ways of breaking down national barriers, Mrs. Louise Mercer Henderson, of San Diego, guest at the Empress Hotel, who has traveled in many countries, said yesterday.

She is the wife of [illegible] Henderson, United States Navy, who is in charge of dismantling the United States dirigible at Nanaimo and must wait here in hopes of seeing her husband, whom she has seen very little of since their marriage last year. While waiting she is adding a few pages to her book which tells the story of travel in the Far East and elsewhere.

It was in 1940 that Mrs. Henderson went to Japan. For seven months she journeyed leisurely through Yokohama, Tokio, Shanghai, on up into Japanese-occupied Manchuria and then home because war made travel too difficult.

A dancer, she studied Japanese dancnig at the Hanayagi School in Tokio and became familiar with native ways and thinking, although she did not learn the language. In Shanghai, where she was stranded for three months, she made a few real friends who stood by her when money coming from the United States was held up in Singapore by British authorities. However, before returning to the safe shores of America, Mrs. Henderson felt she must see Peiping, even though it was under Japanese domination. Her train went through the war zone and carried fleeing Chinese coolies and scores of Japanese soldiers. From a young Japanese officer she learned something about the fighting complex of young admirers of the Emperor.

Mukden, Mrs. Henderson stated, is a beautiful modern city built by the Japanese with Chinese coolie help. The Nipponese have transplanted themselves with the greatest ease and are living on the rich fruit and wheat lands of Manchuria. In Dairen she met Professor Morise, one-time Japanese teacher in Columbia University. This port is one of the most strategic of the Eastern war zone, and will probably be the centre of fighting before long. The Japanese officer had told her then that the United States and Japan would soon be at war.

Mrs. Henderson traveled to Mexico in 1942, to Vera Cruz and other Latin cities, and was in both Vancouver and Victoria in 1941.

"I want to say that in spite of war and the great preoccupation of the people, I have been very cordially welcomed here, and I am glad to have the chance of writing where it is so lovely and quiet," she declared.

"Congo" Is Theme Of Student Play

Children of Miss Jean Bailey's class, Course 32 (intermediate demonstration and laboratory class) staged a play and puppet show in their classroom at the Summer School of Education yesterday afternoon, when an audience of parents and student teachers attended the closing programme.

The entertainment took the form of a play based on the class enterprise, "The Congo," the scenery for which has been under construction for the past fortnight. In the play, Marina Patt took the role of a young Canadian visitor who, by dint of persistent questions, learned from two other Canadians, Norman Richardson and Ronald Walker, something about the Congo's flora and fauna, and the natives and their way of living, and later, from some of the natives themselves, information about the wild animals and the customs of the jungle. Playing the part of aborigines were Beverley and Geraldine Koski, Hedley Simp- ... Joan Mollgard, Mitchell Belobaba and Irene Hancock.

After the play, Geraldine and Beverley Koski operated the figures in a puppet show entitled, "How fear came to the jungle animals," among the children taking part in this being Arthur Allison, Bill Graham, Leo Baldwin, Anna Macdonald and Bill Cove.

The boys and girls subsequently acted as guides in showing visitors the interesting exhibits scattered about the classroom.

SCHUYLER-JOHNSON

On Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock, Phyllis May, daughter of Staff Sgt. and Mrs. G. A. Johnson, 426 Michigan Street, became the bride of Ensign Harold Lewis Schuyler, United States Merchant Marine, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Schuyler, Whittier, California, at a wedding ceremony which took place at the home of Dr. and Mrs. K. O. Wright, 2300 Quadra Street. Rev. Thomas Menzies officiated at the ceremony, and the bride was given in marriage by her father. She chose for the occasion a white dressmaker suit, and her flower hat, veil and other accessories were also white. Contrasting note was her corsage bouquet of red rosebuds. Mrs. Robert W. Kent, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, and was gowned in a mauve crepe dress, her hat being styled in black and mauve. Pink rosebuds composed her corsage bouquet. Mr. George Hakes, Seattle, supported the groom. A reception was held following the ceremony, after which Ensign and Mrs. Schuyler left for a honeymoon to be spent on the Mainland. For traveling the bride wore a black tailored suit, with matching black accessories. Among the out-of-town guests were Mrs. M. A. Schuyler, Whittier, Cal.; Mr. and Mrs. George Hakes, Seattle, and Mr Ronald A. Birrell, Vancouver.

TIERNAY—HOLM

At St. Andrew's Cathedral on Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock the wedding was solemnized between Bette May, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Holm, 1600 Quadra Street, and Mr. Robert Barcliff Tiernay, son of Mr and Mrs. J. B. Tiernay, 112 Jane Street, North Bay, Ont. Father Leonard officiated at the ceremony. A smart blue wool suit was worn by the bride and her accessories were white, her small white hat being fashioned with blue flowers and veiling. She carried a white Bible decorated with gardenias and streamers tied with white heather. Miss Elsie Holm, the bride's sister, and Miss Marie Weicker were bridal attendants. Miss Holm wore a beige print dress with white accessories, and Miss Weicker was gowned in a gold print dress with contrasting brown accessories. Mr. James Young supported the groom. A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, after which Mr. and Mrs. Tiernay left for a honeymoon to be spent on the Mainland. For traveling the bride donned a matching blue coat over her wedding ensemble, and her corsage bouquet was composed of pink roses. The bride and groom will reside here at 1033 Princess Avenue.

Velvet Rushes to the Fore

COLORED velvet used as trimming appears on this two-piece suit dress and smart small sailor hat. This ensemble hints that for Autumn, hats may be "making" the ensemble. Simplicity in fashions for the career girl means soft dressmaker suits, as shown above. This model might well be used as a restaurant dress as it gives a definite above-the-table glamour. This glamour is enhanced by the throat band embroidered in silver to match the hand-beaten silver earrings.

"The Sullivans" Opening Today

Twentieth Century-Fox brings to the screen the heart-warming human story of the family of the year in the film of the year when "The Sullivans" opens today at the Dominion Theatre.

Anne Baxter and Thomas Mitchell head the featured cast, with Edward Ryan, John Campbell, James Cardwell, John Alvin and George Offerman, Jr., portraying the five famous Sullivan boys of Waterloo, Iowa. Selena Royle and Trudy Marshall also have featured roles.

The film was directed by Lloyd Bacon and produced by Sam Jaffe, with Robert T. Kane associate producer. Mary C. McCall, Jr., wrote the screen play from the story by Edward Doherty and Jules Schermer.

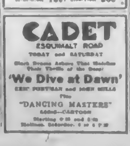

Film "Hara Kiri" Will Open Shortly at York

In one of the most unusual roles of his long screen career, Charles Boyer is starred in the film production "Hara Kiri," which is coming shortly to the York Theatre.

The picture is a story of Oriental intrigue and romance. Boyer's role in "Hara Kiri" is considered the most versatile of all his performances and has been hailed as his most lasting work. He portrays a cruel Japanese naval officer, who is married to a quiet Japanese girl, Merle Oberon, who gives a splendid portrayal in the part she enacts. John Loder, who is a member of the cast of "Hara Kiri," is rapidly becoming one of the most sought-after male performers in Hollywood.

"Hara Kiri" is the startling dramatization of Claude Farrere's prophetic novel, "The Battle."

Amusements

ON THE SCREEN

Atlas—"Lost Angel," starring little Margaret O'Brien.

Cadet—"We Dive at Dawn," featuring Eric Portman.

Capitol—"Pin Up Girl," featuring Betty Grable and John Harvey.

Dominion—Anne Baxter and Thomas Mitchell in "The Sullivans."

Oak Bay and Plaza—"It Happened Tomorrow," starring Dick Powell and Linda Darnell.

Rio—June Clyde and Robert Paige in "Hi'ya Chum."

York—"Heaven Can Wait," featuring Don Ameche and Gene Tierney.

ATLAS THEATRE Marsha Hunt and James Craig, who were the sweethearts in "The Human Comedy," are reunited as the romantic leads in "Lost Angel," now showing at the Atlas Theatre. "Lost Angel" is recommended as a picture which will find its way into the hearts of millions as Margaret O'Brien and the large supporting cast present it. It is wistful, poignant, amusing and dramatic.

CAPITOL THEATRE Those agile Condos Brothers—Nick and Steve—the boys with the lightning legs, do their specialty tap-dancing numbers to the tuneful interpretations of Charlie Spivak and his orchestra in 20th Century-Fox's prize package of entertainment, "Pin Up Girl," starring Betty Grable, and now at the Capitol Theatre.

OAK BAY AND PLAZA THEATRES The day Arnold Pressburger completed "It Happened Tomorrow," the comedy starring Dick Powell, Linda Darnell and Jack Oakie, now at the Oak Bay and Plaza Theatres, he celebrated his 30th year as a producer of motion pictures and his 300th production. But despite his many years in the business of making movies, Pressburger still finds something new to try in every picture.

RIO THEATRE June Clyde, who appeared in the feminine lead in "Banjo Eyes," the Eddy Cantor Broadway musical, has a top role in "Hi' Ya Chum," Universal's new Ritz Brothers' comedy, which is showing today at the Rio Theatre. She shares the major feminine niche with Jane Frazee. Robert Paige is featured opposite Miss Clyde in "Hi' Ya Chum."

YORK THEATRE "Heaven Can Wait," currently showing at the York Theatre, is a delightful romantic comedy of the gay Nineties, in Technicolor. Produced and directed by Ernst Lubitsch the story bears the unmistakable "touch" of the master craftsman. Gene Tierney and Don Ameche are featured in the top roles along with a large cast of outstanding screen favorites.

Discrimination in Wages Is Alleged

Strong protest against the alleged discrimination shown by the City Council toward wage increases for municipal employees was voiced by W. M. Black, who addressed a meeting last night attended by representatives of Greater Victoria civic [illegible] fire department headquarters.

Mr. Black is president and organiser of the Canadian Joint Council of Public Employees, British Columbia Division, and has been here for several days speaking to various civic employee groups about matters pertaining to organisation.

The speaker claimed there should be one centralized bargaining agency in Victoria to take the place of the "more than half a dozen" which exist now, and which he described as always "conflicting with one another." By combining strength much could be accomplished, he said.

Outlining the growth of the joint council, he told of Burnaby civic groups, which, he said, had made impressive gains in both remuneration and working conditions since the municipal employees there had organised themselves into a strong influential group.

Mr. Black claimed that the principals of unionism must be instilled into the minds of all civic employees, and stated there were 3,500 unified civic employees in Vancouver at present.

"This number, as a solid body, can wield a mighty blow if they so desire," he concluded.

G. H. Perree, president of the Vancouver Island Regional Council, acted as chairman of the meeting.

$9,141 Net Credit

VANCOUVER, Aug. 3 (CP).—Net credit of $9,141 was realized on the Premier Border operation from ore milled in first half of 1944. Deducting this from Silbak-Premier advances outstanding as at December [illegible] duced to $10,434 the amount to be repaid Silbak from operating profit.

When this balance has been repaid further earnings will be divided 60 per cent to Silbak and 40 per cent to Premier Border.

The net credit of $9,141 in first half of 1944 compares with a net credit of $6,607 realized in first half of 1943. Tonnage was somewhat lower in the 1944 period, but average metal content was greater and mine operating costs were less.

NO. 199—EIGHTY-SIXTH YEAR VICTORIA, BRITISH COLUMBIA, FRIDAY, AUGUST 4, 1944

Glancing Over Sport—

By JOE DELAHUNTY

EAGLES ARE ON THE SPOT

This evening at the Athletic Park the Eagles baseball club will be at the crossroads, one trail of which will lead into oblivion and the other will give them a slender lease on life, so to speak, as far as gaining a place in this season's Victoria League play-offs is concerned. The lodgemen must take the decision from Patricia Bay Flyers to stay in the running as defeat means they can pack up their diamond paraphernalia for the year and then watch the rest of the clubs battle it out for the championship; but a victory will give them a chance of winding up the schedule in a deadlock with the airmen for the last play-off berth.

Which club will come through? That's the question which holds the large baseball following in the dark at this writing. Tonight is "Eagles Night" at the Caledonia Avenue ball yard, so it is safe to state that a good majority of the fans will be pulling for the birdmen to turn back the lads from Patricia Bay. Take the two teams man for man and it appears that the men who take to the air from their station near Sidney will be slight favorites when the umpire-in-chief yells, "Play ball."

The result of the game depends on which pitchers the respective managers will send to the mound. Apparently the R.C.A.F. will depend on Billy Surphlis to bring them home in front, but just who the Eagles' manager will select from this hurling corps was not known yesterday. However, from this corner, it looks as if Wilf Shouldice has the inside track for the job, and the chances are he will get the assignment, but Bus Stratton may cross everybody up and shoot one of the other boys.

ODDS AND ENDS

Fastballers were given a shock the other evening when they arrived at Central Park and found the diamonds had been sprinkled, by orders, I guess, from the City Parks Board. A little water now and then won't hurt, for it softens the base paths and the ground around the home plate so the players can slide without danger of bruising themselves from the hips down. As this corner has repeatedly said in the past, the playing fields for the fastball teams in this city need their faces lifted, and it's about time some action was taken as the play-offs are under way. Well, the sprinklers were brought into action and that's the first move in the right direction. . . . Danny Holden, of Vancouver, whose father and brother were also pitchers, is now in the East trying out with one of the Brooklyn Dodgers' farm clubs. Let's hope the Mainland youngster makes the grade in the major baseball leagues before the season is completed. . . . Regina's horse racing meet showed a 30 per cent increase this Summer over 1943, and that is a bumper crop in the Prairie "Buckerville." . . . Bats of metal magnesium are being manufactured for baseball. If they are adopted by organized leagues throughout Canada and the United States, out goes the "crack of the bat" expression, as the bats go "ping". . . . Remember when Phil Edwards, British Guianan running for Canada at the Los Angeles Olympic Games, 12 years ago today, pushed the 1,500-metre field to record time as he himself set the early pace? He finished third to Luigi Beccali, of Italy. Four years later Edwards was voted Canada's greatest athlete when he was a point winner at the Olympiad in 1936 in Berlin.

FROM HERE AND THERE

You home run hitters in the local senior ball league, get your big sights focused right, for this corner has completed arrangements, and it was only yesterday, that the player who smacks the most balls over the fence at the Athletic Park at the end of the season's schedule will receive a $50 War Bond. Another thing, the player who is voted the most valuable to his club during the campaign will get either $10 in War Savings Stamps or scrip. The sportsman who has come forth with these offers for the good of the game is none other than "Sandy" McNaughton, of the Northwestern Club, who played with the old Tillicum Club in the Commercial League years ago. "I was never a good ball player in my day, but always gave my best. That is why I am making these offers to the players in this league, for I figure that they deserve some recognition, as they are playing good ball and giving the fans what they want—first-class baseball and keen competition each time out," stated "Sandy" in the office after completing arrangements. . . . If the St. Louis "Browns" capture the American League flag this year, it will mark the first time in the history of the club that it has performed the trick. As a matter of fact, the Browns are the only team in either league never to have lifted the pennant to reach the world series. . . . Seattle, Tacoma, Oakland, Vancouver, New Westminster, various other cities from the Interior and the Prairies, along with the strong Up-Island and local contingents, will be teeing off next Monday in the biggest lawn bowling tournament this city has ever witnessed.

Noted Boxer Dies

LEM FRANKLIN

NEWARK, N.J., Aug. 3 (AP)—Lem Franklin, Chicago negro heavyweight, who suffered a brain concussion and partial paralysis when he was knocked out in a bout at Meadowbrook Bowl here July 24 died today in City Hospital.

The 28-year-old fighter was removed to the hospital shortly after his fight with Larry Lane, Trenton, N.J., negro, ended in the knockout, and Dr. Herbert Conner had explained that the injuries were attributable to Franklin's fall to the canvas rather than the blows.

Hospital authorities said an autopsy would be performed, to determine cause of the fighter's death.

Born in Mobile, Ala., Franklin won the international amateur heavyweight crown and fought his way to the finals in the Chicago Golden Gloves and National A.A.U. in his amateur days.

He turned professional in 1937 and had been considered one of the top-flight heavies in the United States.

John J. Hall, New Jersey State Athletic Commissioner, said that previous to the Lane bout the Chicago fighter had undergone an exacting examination given by a commission physician and that all regulations for the fight had been complied with.

Franklin's death was the first among heavyweight top-notchers since that of Ernie Schaaf after his fight with Primo Carnera in February, 1933.

Others who died of ring injuries were Frankie Campbell, after a fight with Max Baer; Bull Young, from the effects of blows delivered by Jess Willard; Frankie Jerome, after a bout with Bud Taylor and Tony Scarpati, who was a victim of Lou Ambers' punches.

Maltzberger Going Great

NEW YORK, Aug 3 (CP)—If Gordy Maltzberger continues to save games for the Chicago White Sox hurlers at the rate to which they have become accustomed, the 30-year-old righthander will become the first relief hurler to win the American League pitching crown on a lost-won basis.

With a 10-2 win record for the fifth-place Sox, Maltz may eclipse Wilcey Moore's sensational 1927 spurt when he posted a 19-7 season for Miller Huggins' world champion Yankees. Waite Hoyt of the Yanks won 22 and lost 7 that year but Moore topped the loop in low earned run average with 2.28 while pitching only six complete games.

Jimmy Dykes' No. 1 fireman hasn't started a single game, but has appeared in 30, walking only 13 men and giving only 62 hits in 81 2-3 innings. With the Sox pitching staff suffering from seven-inning miseries, Maltzberger has a chance to wipe out the American League record set by Ed Walsh of the same Chicago club who appeared in 66 contests back in 1908.

Ace Adams' modern major league mark of 70 is not beyond the reach of the Texan.

Of the three losses entered against Maltzberger's record, all have been suffered in extra-inning games. Boston beat him in the 12th, 2-2, back on May 19 and again on July 16, 4-2, in 11 frames. Philadelphia did the trick in the 12th, 2-1, last Tuesday.

Penhold Side In Triumph

The visiting Royal Air Force eleven from Penhold, Alberta, defeated their colleagues from the R.A.F. station at Comox yesterday at Beacon Hill by a margin of 42 runs.

Batting first, before a good crowd, the visitors occupied the wickets for two hours and put on the moderate total of 108 runs. Roberts with 29 not out and Randall with 27 being top scorers.

The Comox men never looked like making the runs required. Their first three batsmen were sent back for only 12 runs, and seven men were out for 50 runs. A big hit for six by Sanderson, off Meadows, helped the score along, but when Cavendish wrenched his knee and had to retire the innings was soon finished. The latter was the only bowler to play the Penhold fast bowler Meadows with any degree of confidence. Randall followed up his good innings at bat by capturing three wickets, and with Meadows, bowled unchanged for the Penhold side. Mowbray trundled well for Comox, bagging seven wickets for 20 runs.

Bossing Teams Tonight

JACK STRATTON (EAGLES)

SGT. BRIAN FORSTER (R.C.A.F.)

Respective managers of the Eagles and R.C.A.F., who clash this evening in an all-important McGavin Cup fixture. Facing elimination from play-off contention, Eagles must win or be ousted, while the Flyers, realizing their remaining league games are tough, will be out to clinch a play-off berth. Pitching selections have not been announced, but it is likely that Billy Surphlis will get the starting role for the airmen, with Bert Appleby on hand to help out if necessary. Wilf Shouldice is the probable choice for the Birdmen, although Bobby Prior and Reg Maitland are ready. An added feature of this important game will be the celebration of "Eagles Night" at the ball park. Not only will members of the lodge be out in full force to cheer for their team but they will be backed up by the appearance of the Eagles Drum and Bugle Corps, who are to play before the start of the game. George Syrotuck, last year's manager of the clubmen, will journey down from Duncan for the game and will be found on the first base coaching lines.

Army Ties Up Series

Beats Out Flyers In Fastball Game

Pulling the game out of the fire in the ninth inning when three errors by the Airmen helped them to score three runs, Army evened up their semi-final series with the R.C.A.F. by turning in a 6 to 4 triumph in a thrilling game played at the Athletic Park last night.

Sammy Kennedy and Gordie Crimble, opposing hurlers, had been hooked up in an interesting pitching duel when the usually steady Flyers blew sky high in the ninth to hand the soldiers the game. The final game of the series will be played tonight at the upper diamond in Central Park. Game time is 6.30.

The Army nine, showing more fight than they have all year, turned in one of their best games of the season behind the steady throwing of Kennedy. Bill Prior, playing at third for the troops, turned in a useful game.

After four innings had been played, R.C.A.F. went into a one-run lead in the fifth. Swerhone singled, went to second on Marcotte's bunt, and scored when Lands dropped a hit into rightfield. Army tied it up in their half. Brunett, on third, as a result of a base on balls and Chapman's single, came in when Swerhone failed to come up with Grundar's ground ball.

R.C.A.F. took over a two-run lead in the sixth. Greenberg bunted and reached second when Kennedy hit the runner going to first. Hoag singled to count Greenberg and came in himself on a double by Hitchens. The lead was cut to one in the seventh when the soldiers put over a singleton after loading the sacks with one out, Dufeult scoring after Kennedy flied to left.

Lake, playing in right field for the troops, helped to restore the Flyers' two-run lead in the ninth. Swerhone hit a short fly to rightfield and, attempting an impossible shoestring catch, Lake let the ball roll past him and Swerhone crossed the plate before it was retrieved.

ARMY RALLIES IN THE NINTH

With elimination from the play-offs staring them in the face, Army fought back in the ninth, and, aided by the Airmen, scored three times to force another game. Grunder dropped a high hit behind first base and came all the way when Hoag threw the ball into leftfield. Kennedy doubled through the centre to keep the rally alive. Sutherland bounced a hit off Crimble's foot and Todd, trying to get Kennedy at second, hit him with the throw and the runners moved up to second and third. Prior hit a roller to shortstop and when Swerhone threw high past first both runners crossed the platter with the tying and winning runs.

Score by innings:		R	H	E
R.C.A.F.	000 012 001—	4	6	2
Army	000 010 103—	6	9	3

Batteries: Crimble and Greenberg. Kennedy and Grunic.

Umpires—P. Tooby and T. Woods.

In a Junior League game the Boilermakers took a close 9-2 win from the Hustlers last night, while K.V.'s won by default from the Boilermakers in the juvenile section.

McCormick Is Showing Way

Ciney's Infielder Having Great Year

NEW YORK, Aug. 3 (AP).—Frank McCormick, of Cincinnati Reds, is after the best first baseman in the major league.

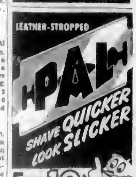

In his first full year with the Reds, 1938, McCormick made 209 hits in 640 times at bat, both high for the loop, and batted .326. He joined the select group of players who made 200 or more hits in their freshman year. The next year he duplicated his 209-hit total, again to lead the league in that department, and drove in the most runs, 128.

In 1940, he added the doubles title and for the third time in succession led the league in hits.

In his first five years with the Reds, McCormick drove in 517 runs, more than any of the other top sluggers of the circuit in the corresponding period. McCormick has the unique distinction of being selected for the National League all-star team in each of his seven years in the majors.

This year Frank got off to a bad start. After hovering around the .270 mark for the first half of the season, he staged a batting spree to climb to a point over .300. In the past two weeks he made 22 hits in 64 times at bat for a .344 average and batted in 21 runs.

Normandy Air Rich With Idioms

By GAULT MACGOWAN
North American Newspaper Alliance

IN THE BIG PUSH, FRANCE, Aug. 1 (By Wireless).—A soldier in a camouflage unit came up one side of a hedge and a soldier in battle dress came out of a field on the other. They met in the shell-scarred road.

One was Pte. Armando Fiore, of Brooklyn, N.Y. The other was Lance-Cpl. Jack Jones, of Islwyn Brynpydew. The Welshman pronounced his v's like f's and his d's like t's. Armando pronounced his oi sounds like er's.

Armando mopped his brow and said it was "a berlin' hot day." Jack said, "Aye, inteet to gootness whateffer." They both understood each other perfectly.

Armando was camouflaged to look like a hedge, with his chin to match. Jack was shiny and smiling and looked as if he'd just stepped from a bath. Each looked enviously at the other.

Then Englishman William Henley, from West Bromwich, near Birmingham, met Sergt. David Burdett, from Sylacauga, Ala. The Normandy air became rich with idioms and the aroma of American cigarettes liberally shared.

"We are the British right," said Henley. "We are the American left," said Burdett. Thus contact was established and cemented.

The big push went on with renewed vigor.

Want Objectors to Lose Union Rights

WINNIPEG, Aug. 3 (CP).—The Manitoba Command, Canadian Legion, seeks to have union protection, granted conscientious objectors taken into civilian employment during the war, withdrawn as soon as peace comes and demobilized fighting men are available for work, it was announced here today.

Approval for this stand was given at a meeting of the Manitoba Command last night, and it was decided the Legion now would invite employers and unions to negotiate modification of present agreements.

Conscientious objectors given civilian employment were automatically granted union protection, a Legion spokesman said. The Legion will ask that agreements be modified so as to permit discharge without union protection of such workers.

Only those men whose permits to seek work stated that they were not in armed service for conscientious reasons would come under the ban.

Cost Million to Make Steps For Fish on Fraser River

VANCOUVER, Aug. 3 (CP).—Contract bids for construction of the automatic Hell's Gate fishways on the Fraser River will be considered by the International Pacific Salmon Fisheries Commission at its three-day convention which opened here today.

Utilizing a gradual slope rather than the traditional steps found in fishways at Bonneville Dam, Columbia River, the construction is believed the only type of its kind in the world.

The Hell's Gate project presented a special difficulty as the Fraser River rises and falls more than 100 feet in a season.

The rush of water on this slope will be broken by vertical concrete "baffles" or ridges built in from the walls of the trough in a staggered or alternating pattern. Height of the fishway walls will be 30 feet.

Milo Bell, of Seattle, United States engineer, who designed fish ladders for many dam projects, including Bonneville, is in charge of the project which must be finished by March, 1945, in time for the salmon to come up to spawn.

Work at Hell's Gate will involve removal of about 45,000 cubic yards of rock, rearranging another 50,000 yards and the construction of reinforced concrete fishways on either side of the river.

Cost of the project is estimated at $1,000,000, but the Canadian and American Governments have set aside $2,000,000 for the scheme.

Hell's Gate Canyon is 135 miles from the mouth of the Fraser River. Every Spring, thousands of big sockeye salmon make their way up this stream to spawn in the fresh water lakes. Every year, for the last 30 years, they have fought their way against the swift current of the Fraser as it flows through narrow Hell's Gate. And every year thousands have died in the struggle. Since a landslide in 1913 narrowed the passage the salmon run has been falling off. It is estimated that had the 1941 catch been as great as the one in 1913 it would have yielded $40,000,000 instead of $8,000,000.

Completion of the spillway is expected to restore the yearly salmon run to Puget Sound and the Gulf of Georgia.

The Spring of 1912 saw the last great salmon run. Following that, the landslide caused by railway excavations narrowed the river channel. The great production run of every fourth year had been broken and never returned to its original magnitude.

In 1937, the Canadian and United States Governments agreed to establish a six-man international commission to investigate the salmon's life history and recommend to the two Governments action to increase the runs. After years of investigation and study, this commission came to a decision early this year that the new Hell's Gate fishways would be the only solution.

On Strike to Force Anti-Union Men Out

PRINCE RUPERT, Aug. 3 (CP).—Approximately 450 members of the Boilermakers' and Iron Shipbuilders' Union (C.I.O.) were on a sitdown strike here today demanding expulsion by the Prince Rupert Drydock and Shipyard of six yard employees whom they termed "anti-union."

The strike started when workers laid down their tools on the afternoon shift yesterday.

A company spokesman said the strike involved less than half the working strength of the yard, with members of other unions remaining on the job while the strikers stood about in groups.

Union officials called a meeting for tonight. A closed shop was not the issue, they said, and there was no objection to many non-union members employed in the yard.

Urge Canadian Boats For Dominion Trade

A movement is on foot for legislation to require that Canadian-built vessels be used in inter-Canadian trade, according to W. D. MacLaren, general manager of the West Coast Shipbuilders, Ltd., Vancouver. He suggested subsidies might be necessary.

Success of a postwar shipbuilding programme would depend largely upon labor he said. Under present conditions ships could be built for less money in the Old Country. To meet this competition would necessitate more efficient methods and "every man pulling his weight" in Canadian yards.

Dispute at Yarrows

Charging that Yarrows Limited has broken its agreement with Local No. 2 of the Boilermakers' Union in regard to payment of "dirty money" to a workman, J. C. Cosgrove, business agent of the union, has applied to the Provincial Department of Labor for settlement of the dispute.

Mr. Cosgrove said yesterday that a man was refused "dirty money" for a certain job, asked for other work until settlement was reached, but was dismissed. Yarrows officials made no comment last night.

Vancouver Forecast

Moderate winds. Cloudy and mild. Occasional light rain in the morning and partly cloudy during the afternoon. Fair in the late afternoon with moderate to fresh winds.

To Build Parts for Super Fortresses

VANCOUVER, Aug. 3 (CP).—Parts for B-29's, the Super-Fortress blasting Japan's homeland, are to be turned out by Boeing Aircraft of Canada Limited, in a programme now being discussed by Seattle and Vancouver officials of Boeing's.

Negotiations are proceeding today in Seattle, where Stanley Burke, president of the Canadian firm, is in conference with officials of the United States Company.

Airmen Train for After-War Jobs

VANCOUVER, Aug. 3 (CP).—Men of the Royal Canadian Air Force, especially the ground crews, are receiving a wonderful training in trades which will help them get good jobs when they are demobilized, Air Marshal Robert Leckie, of Ottawa, chief of air staff, R.C.A.F., said in an interview today following his departure to inspect Vancouver Island R.C.A.F. bases. Air Marshal Leckie is making an inspection tour of all air force installations in British Columbia.

"The public can rest assured that these men will be given every opportunity," said Air Marshal Leckie when questioned on the rehabilitation of R.C.A.F. personnel returning from overseas. "There are plans now being made to obtain all the assistance necessary for these boys who have done such a grand job in winning the war.

"So far we have not had much actual experience with rehabilitation as the men are coming back only one by one, or at most a small group at a time, and we are experiencing no difficulty in taking care of them.

"Our real problems will arise when larger numbers are demobilized," Air Marshal Leckie added.

Air Marshal Leckie, accompanied by Air Vice-Marshal Vernon Heakes, air officer commanding Western Air Command, was at Patricia Bay air station yesterday, leaving for other Island stations in the afternoon. The two officers are making an inspection tour of Western Air Command stations.

New Spitfire Is Queen of Air

This story is published through the courtesy of The Transatlantic Daily Mail of London.

By COLIN BEDNALL,
North American Newspaper Alliance

LONDON.—A new Spitfire has regained for Britain the coveted title "Queen of the Air." It has also obtained vital information about enemy secret weapon preparations.

Its work has resulted in the successful bombing of flying-bomb sites, and of sites prepared for the threatened long-range rocket shell. Only the weather can stop its daily watch on other suspected sites.

An official bulletin describes it as the "fastest aircraft of its type in the world." Its type is that required for use in photographic reconnaissance at high altitude.

It can therefore be deduced that it belongs to a new breed of Spitfires which can now beat any other high-altitude plane. It is the first aircraft stated to be employing sensational Rolls-Royce Merlin engines known as Marks 61, 63 and 63-A.

American units, as well as the R.A.F., are employing the new Spitfire. The photographic reconnaissance version has spent up to 45 minutes at a time over Berlin seeking pictures of bomb damage.

Its range is so great that it is equipped for use in all climates, and can in one hop fly from snow-covered fields to tropical sands.

To get range, auxiliary fuel tanks have been fitted inside the leading edge of the wings. Pilots call it the "flying petrol (gas) tank."

This increased vulnerability to enemy fire—for obviously the extra petrol means extra danger—does not normally worry them because of the height and speed at which they fly.

Amalgamation Is Discussed

A report on Greater Victoria amalgamation proposals by Harold Diggon and comments by Reeve W. L. Woodhouse, Ald. Archie Wills and others were heard by Victoria Chamber of Commerce directors yesterday, but no action was taken pending further meetings of the group's municipal committee.

Mr. Diggon, reporting for the committee of which he is co-chairman, suggested a commission, jointly financed by Victoria, Oak Bay, Esquimalt and Saanich, to consider the relation of water, fire, sewage and other services to amalgamation.

Public opinion on the question would need to be developed, he said. He suggested that the Chamber of Commerce lend its co-operation to amalgamation plans.

Reeve Woodhouse, Oak Bay, said a meeting of Mayor Andrew McGavin, Reeve Thomas Hadfield and himself with Premier John Hart earlier this week had arisen from discussions on postwar town planning with John S. Galbraith, Ottawa official in charge of the planning division of the National Housing Administration.

At that meeting, Premier Hart indicated that the Province intended to leave amalgamation plans to the municipalities.

Reeve Woodhouse said the people would want to know how amalgamation would affect finances and public works of the four municipalities. A survey by experts would yield this information. He mentioned that Oak Bay had a debt of $269,000, and Victoria one of $12,000,000.

Ald. Wills said that an inter-municipal committee set up years ago had encountered difficulties on the debt question.

EXCESS PROFITS TAX CONCERNS DIRECTORS

The Chamber of Commerce decided to write to R. W. Mayhew, M.P., urging that a recent provision under the Excess Profits Tax Act providing a special depreciation allowance for new fishing schooners should be made applicable to the Pacific as well as the Atlantic coast.

It endorsed a letter from Hon. E. C. Carson, Minister of Trade and Industry, asking the Federal Government to provide $400,000 for buildings and equipment for the British Columbia Industrial and Scientific Research Council.

Major Cuthbert Holmes was named the Chamber of Commerce representative on a branch of the Re[illegible] advisory committee on secondary industries.

Seattle Chamber of Commerce will be asked whether a proposed $8,000,000 fund for promotion of the Pacific Northwest, including British Columbia, would be operated through the Evergreen Playground Association.

W. O. Wallace, president, Saanich Board of Trade, described a continuous highway route around Saanich Peninsula, proposed by Victoria Real Estate Board. Forty-six of its 55 miles would be within sight of water, he said. The question was referred to the group's rehabilitation committee.

Acceptance of an invitation to a joint Chamber of Commerce, Canadian Club, Gyro Club dinner on August 31 was received from Hon. Ray Atherton, United States Ambassador to Canada.

Shipyard Workers May Arrive Here

Approximately 400 employees of a North Vancouver ship repair company will be released from their jobs in a reduction programme to start today, it was learned here yesterday.

Despite information from Vancouver to the effect that many of the released men would be transferred to Victoria to fill vacancies at Yarrows Ltd., Selective Service officials here have received no word concerning the matter.

According to a spokesman for Yarrows plant, there is an urgent need for more riveters to work on landing barges being built by the firm. Heavy demands for other classes of workers were also listed. Riveters at the Victoria yard receive $1 per hour, it was stated.

The reduction of the Vancouver yard personnel precedes closing of one of the berths which is being carried out under orders from Wartime Shipbuilding Ltd.

Film Explains Need Of World Food Plan

The necessity of an all-inclusive food plan, based on the needs of all peoples of the world, was emphasized in the film, "World of Plenty," shown to members of the Lions Club at their regular luncheon meeting yesterday in Spencer's dining-room. The film was presented by O. W. Marshall, of the National Film Board, and was divided into three separate sections.

Starting with illustrations depicting the great waste and destruction of foodstuffs which existed before the war, when food was grown for profit rather than for human consumption, the film showed the great changes in agriculture which have taken place since the war started. People now realise it is the type of food eaten that determines a nation's health standards, rather than the quantity consumed, the commentator explained.

The lend-lease system, as applied to food from the United States to Britain, was explained fully in the film, which also showed how the rationing system was operated in England.

It was pointed out that America helped feed Great Britain because she knew the latter's effort was closely and essentially connected with her own.

Deferred Men Are Called Up

Men now on deferment, working in firms and establishments throughout the city, are now being replaced by others who are not subject to military call, according to C. A. Mudge, manager of the local National Selective Service Office, who said yesterday that surveys had been made recently to determine how many men, subject to military call, are now on deferred lists.

It was emphasized by Mr. Mudge that the local office is concerned only with the procurement of workers. It is the National Mobilization Board in Vancouver, he said, which determines final action on deferment cases.

The Victoria Fire Department has already lost two of its twelve deferred men, according to Deputy Chief Joseph Raymond, who revealed yesterday the local selective service office had sent two discharged men to fill the deferred men's places. These released men have joined the R.C.N.V.R., it was learned.

There are still 10 deferred men on the force, he said, and their deferments expire in September.

Selective Service officials stated that if suitable replacements can be found before September, these men will be released. All such actions are reported to the National Mobilization Board in Vancouver.

Mr. Mudge said all firms are being effected in the same manner, and that men discharged or rejected from the armed forces are filling the deferred men's places.

Home Conversion Plans Approved

Meeting yesterday for the first time following their Summer recess, the city zoning board of appeal approved eight appeals, six of which were for converting single-family residences into two and three-family dwellings and apartments.

The board also gave its approval to the proposal by the National Housing Administration on behalf of Lt.-Col. A. M. Kent for the conversion of 228 Douglas Street into a five-suite building. A second National Housing Administration project meeting with the board's approval was the conversion of property at 250 Government Street, owned by Mrs. Violet White, into a four-suite apartment.

A. Johnson, 3015 Runnymede Avenue, was given permission to convert premises at that address into a seven-suite building, and was also granted permission to make an addition to the garage.

Smaller conversion projects approved included turning premises at 1188 Kings Road, owned by Mrs. J. Gilles, into a two-family residence, and converting property owned by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Gwilt, 2845 Quadra Street, into a three-suite apartment.

The board granted C. A. Brydges a temporary trades licence to operate a craft shop at 259 Cook Street.

John Day Proposes Welcome Committee

John Day, 880 Maddison Street, telephone G 2382, intends to call a meeting in the near future in the City Council chamber with the object of forming a welcome committee to greet returning war veterans at the dock.

He is anxious to hear from those interested, and may be reached by telephone before 11:30 in the morning and after 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

During the Great War, Mr. Day was secretary of the citizens' welcome committee.

"When a vessel left Vancouver, names of war veterans aboard were telephoned to Victoria, and both newspapers placed lists in their windows. No money was spent or paid for welcome committee services, and we were always able to provide taxis and private cars for veterans," Mr. Day recalled.

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, Aug. 3 (AP).—Leading stocks backed away in today's market, more from lack of firm bids than from any real selling pressure, but here and there favorites managed to hold on to minor plus marks. Losses of fractions to a point or so predominated at the close.

The Associated Press 60-stock average was off .3 of a point at 54.7. Of 872 issues appearing, 504 were down, 173 up and 195 unchanged. Transfers of 803,650 shares compared with 797,280 Wednesday.

Graham-Paige edged up 1-8 to 3 5-8, a peak for 1944. Demand apparently was based on rumors of merger talks and preparations for big peacetime automotive production by independent makers.

Improvement was retained by General Electric, American Smelting, International Harvester and American Can. Prominent casualties were General Motors, Chrysler, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Delaware & Hudson, United States Rubber, Goodyear, Goodrich, Sears Roebuck, Du Pont, Douglas Aircraft and Olive Farm.

OTTAWA, Aug. 3 (CP).—Parliament this year has granted 111 divorces, establishing a high record for the last ten years, Senator John T. Haig, chairman of the divorce committee, reported to the Upper House today. Of the 111 cases dealt with by the Senate committee this year 107 originated in Quebec.

Sale of Gasoline Shows Increase

Increased purchasing by individual car owners boosted gasoline consumption in British Columbia in June to 3,834,340 gallons, an increase of 383,330 gallons over the preceding month, and of 62,200 gallons over June of last year, continuing the upward trend evident lately. Retail sales gained and commercial sales dropped, compared with June of 1943.

Dr. W. A. Carrothers, chairman of the Coal and Petroleum Board, stated retail sales in June amounted to 2,308,127 gallons, 304,704 more than in the same month of last year, and 88,945 gallons more than in May. Sales to commercial accounts at 1,763,373 gallons showed a decrease of 294,656 gallons compared with a year ago, but an increase of 88,945 gallons over May.

Marine sales totaled 362,841 gallons, an increase of 12,215 gallons over June, 1943, and 237,940 gallons last May.

Vancouver Island, said Dr. Carrothers, consumed 389,791 gallons on a retail basis in June, less than 1 per cent more than in June last year. Vancouver area retail sales amounted to 1,904,467 gallons, an increase of 3.7 per cent. In the remainder of the province the increase was 14.77 per cent, the month's total being 1,320,870 gallons, an increase of 128,166 gallons. Greater part of the June increase was therefore outside the Vancouver and Vancouver Island areas.
